CONVENTION HITS AT NEWSPAPERS

Adopts Resolution Reprimanding Press for Printing
News of Charges Against Bishops.

DALLAS, Texas, May 13.—(AP)—Josephus Daniels, member of the North Carolina delegation to the convention here of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, joined by 20 others, was preparing charges tonight against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., for engaging in stock market activities, Daniels announced.

The former secretary of the navy also was joined by G. T. Fitzhugh, of Memphis, Tenn.; Judge J. G. McGowan, member of the supreme court of Mississippi and a delegate from the Northern Mississippi conference, in preparing the charges.

The charges of "gambling" were aired before the episcopacy committee tonight but no announcement of the result was made.

Names of Prosecutors.
"I believe it fair to divulge the names of those who, with me, are preferring the charges," Captain Fitzhugh said.

Others he named who had signed the charges were Thomas E. Pegram, North Mississippi conference; J. Lee Davis, Virginia conference; C. B. Castle, East Oklahoma conference; M. M. Satterfield, Mississippi conference; L. E. Heath, South Georgia conference; J. I. Murray, West Oklahoma conference; E. A. Hammett, North Alabama conference; C. W. Sarver, North Alabama conference; John T. Cooper, North Alabama conference; B. H. Moss, South Carolina conference; B. W. Crouch, Upper South Carolina conference; Orville Zimmerman, St. Louis conference; Ewell T. Workley, Memphis conference; J. D. Gardner, South Georgia conference; W. H. Wiseman, Tennessee conference; Will Stackhouse, South Carolina conference.

The reprimand order for newspapers which gave "unfair display" to complaints filed against bishops of the church was delivered to newspapermen today by the committee named to write it.

Press Reprimand.

The statement follows: It is the sense of this general conference that we fully appreciate the services of the press in reporting the proceedings of the conference and the work of the episcopacy and that we are anxious to co-operate with the newspapers in every way possible.

"But we regret that some newspapers have so reported routine matters touching upon the work of the conference and some members of the episcopacy as to make the wrong impression on the public mind and regard the conference's attitude toward the episcopacy and other issues."

The "routine matters" spoken of presumably were the complaints filed by the Rev. Rembert Smith, of Washington, Ga., against Bishops Cannon, Moore, Moulton and DuBois, charging undue political activity in the 1928 election.

Bishops Moore and Moulton were given a clean slate yesterday by the episcopacy committee considering the charge.

The conference, without dissenting vote, adopted today one of the resolutions of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Washington, D. C., asking congress to expedite consideration of law enforcement measures recommended by President Hoover. The vote was taken when the committee on temperance asked that rules should be suspended in order that the resolution might be considered.

Constitution Beaten.
Josephus Daniels, chairman of the temperance committee, who, when Cannon's report was made last week, objected to immediate consideration of the resolution apart from the remainder of the Cannon report, was about.

The episcopal form of government triumphed today when the quadrennial conference, in session here, voted down a decisive majority the proposed new constitution.

The document, representing four years of labor by a commission, and 28 years of agitation in the church for a written body of laws, would have required a two-thirds majority for adoption. The vote was 188 for and 205 against.

Although presaged by the large number of amendments which had been tacked on the bill representing the opposing views of many factions

HARRIS QUOTA BILL WINS IN SENATE

Georgian Modifies Immigration Measure To Apply Only to Mexicans.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.—Without the formality of even a record vote the senate today passed a revised edition of the bill by Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, placing Mexican immigration on a quota basis. Only 1,500 Mexicans will be admitted annually.

The action of the chamber, taken after only a brief discussion, came as much surprise to Senator Harris as it did anyone else. No one, it seems, was prepared to believe there was any chance of a final vote soon, while many thought they saw prospects for the measure becoming involved in a heated controversy such as marked its recent consideration when it was referred back to the committee for revision.

In keeping with an announcement made some days back, Senator Royal S. Copeland, democrat of New York, moved today that the senate reconsider its previous vote by which the Harris bill was referred back to the committee. In the light of vigorous opposition that developed to the measure during its original consideration, it had been thought that the motion of Mr. Copeland in itself would be sufficient to deadlock proceedings for a day or two. But, strangely enough, it prevailed without the necessity of a vote.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, democrat of Montana, one of the opponents on the bill, did arise later and announce the parliamentary procedure which he described as the "sore spot" of our immigration problem. Originally the bill had imposed similar restrictions on immigration from Mexico and Central America and the Georgia senator had also consented to a provision bringing Canada under the ban.

The amendment was discussed for a few minutes by Senator Carl Hayden, democrat, of Arizona, who opposed the adoption of any restrictions because of the effect on states of the southwestern section, where Mexican labor is chiefly employed. After his protest the senate approved the amendment and then passed the bill itself without members of the gallery being fully conscious of what had transpired.

Senator Harris was elated over the action afterwards and pointed out that he has been seeking similar legislation for four or five years. At the time the bill was recommitted repression on the public mind was regarded as the conference's attitude toward the episcopacy and other issues."

Even now it must pass the gauntlet of the house, where a bill on the same subject, only with minor modifications, is pending. The house measure, sponsored by Chairman Johnson, republican of Washington, of the immigration committee, places all countries of the western hemisphere under the same immigration quotas as now apply to Europe and the rest of the world.

It is the contention of the Georgia senator that his bill will reduce Mexican immigration to 1,500 annually.

Steel To Be Erected On Viaduct Today

Erection of steel on the southern span of the Fourth street viaduct will be started this morning, it was announced Tuesday by officials of the MacDougal Construction Company, contractors, and forces will work night and day to assure completion of the improvement within the 90-day time limit of the contract.

The first car load of steel arrived Tuesday, and workmen will begin at once to install it. There are three others en route and the entire shipment will be here and ready to install before the end of the month, it was said.

Forces will be at work immediately on the arrival and it will be placed as it comes, officials of the MacDougal company declared.

Alexander MacDougal, president of the MacDougal company, was out of the city Tuesday, but will reach Atlanta today. He already has prepared to place workmen on the project just as soon as the steel arrives.

EDUCATION BOARD IGNORES WARNING IN VOTING BUDGET

Program Adopted Will Force Closing of Schools
Early in November,
Members Agree.

In the face of a warning by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale that he would not approve any budget contemplating closing of schools before the Christmas holidays, the board of education, after an eight-hour session Tuesday, approved a budget which even the most optimistic members of the board and administrative staff declare cannot keep the system operating later than November 8.

The approved budget will be offered to Mr. Ragsdale today or Thursday for his sanction.

Despite the long session members of the board were able to cut only $43,194.51 from the original budget as offered by the administration department.

Only $657,613.32 Left.

Entire revenue of the school department for the year is $2,874,078.07, according to the estimate, and of that amount $2,223,026.05 will be spent when schools are reopened in September, leaving only $657,613.32 for operation and maintenance of the system for the last four months of the year. It is estimated that cost of operation of the system for the last four months will be $294,607.21 a month, or approximately $10,000 a day.

Virtually every one of the cuts which were made in the original budget came at the insistence of John T. Hancock, commissioner of the eighth ward and former chairman of the current expenditures committee.

Convention funds for Raymond H. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, and of H. Reed Hunter, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools, were slashed from the revised sheet and added to the amount which it was estimated would be needed to operate the schools open in September. These amounted to $200 each.

Reductions Made.

Fuel costs were reduced $10,000; $3,000 was slashed from the repair of buildings and $20,000 from repairs and replacements to heating, lighting and plumbing equipment. $5,475 from new land; $2,303 from purchase of new automobiles, and $16,511 from sundry activities.

Mr. Hancock made all the motions to slash the budget with the exception of the one taking the convention funds from the assistant superintendent and Mrs. J. O'Keefe Nelson, of the sixth ward, was author of that.

When the board seemed to have exhausted all the cuts possible, Mr. Ritchie called attention to the $200 left over. Mr. Hunter then took the floor.

"I want to be as magnanimous as Mr. Ritchie is, and I have $200 for a Columbus (Ohio) convention. I will give that," Mr. Hunter said.

Harrelson's Proposal.

Commissioner J. Ira Harrelson proposed that the board adopt the budget as submitted and make cuts later after each member had been given supervision of a group of departments to study the effect of the various groups and report back to the board with proposed reductions.

This proposal was discussed for more than an hour before the board adopted it. The speaker was Edman E. A. Gilliam, of the twelfth ward, ex-officio member of the school board, to take up the budget department and item by item.

Mr. Gilliam contended that the board members now had sufficient information to proceed with the budget.

During discussion on the Harrelson proposal, Dr. Burns took the floor and warned the board that to proceed without a definite course of action would lead to lost motion and a demoralized condition. He declared that he had no criticism of Superintendent Willis A. Sutton and Assistant Superintendent Ritchie and their ability to run the schools economically. Dr. Burns urged that the present program of the schools be continued.

Mrs. Nelson's Plan.

Mrs. Nelson declared that she could not consent to close the schools, and urged that "it is better to have some definite substitute motion by Alderman E. A. Gilliam."

"We ought not to take an obstinate stand and say we have got to have certain things, for we can do without them," Mrs. Nelson said. Alderman Gilliam concurred in this view and declared: "We ought not to look at it as a mutilation of the school system, but as a necessary compromise."

When we consider general conditions over the country, we will be justified in cutting out some things. Let us face it in an honest, generous and broad spirit. We are not in a position to please everybody, and under

LEGAL HOME BREW SEEN BY M'BRIDE

Admits League Supports
Dry-Voting, Wet-Drinking
Candidates.

BY HERBERT LITTLE.

United News Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Qualified approval of the legality of home brewing and of congressmen who drink but vote dry was expressed today by Superintendent Scott McBride of the Anti-Saloon League before the senate lobby committee.

The league supports only a "few" drinking congressmen, he hastened to state. And it is interested in the personal habits of candidates and congressmen.

Opinion that home-brewing was legal was followed immediately by the statement that the law has a few loopholes, and is not yet 100 per cent perfect.

McBride denied the league has brought out, or even knew of, Representative Franklin Fort's dry candidacy against Ambassador Morrow for the New Jersey republican senatorial nomination. He admitted he helped state Anti-Saloon League officials draft a statement expressing hope that the dries would have a candidate to vote for, but said he was surprised to hear Fort was intending to run.

The committee postponed further examination of McBride's inquiry into the mysterious $48,000 which Bishop James Cannon, Jr., collected for the anti-Smith campaign in Virginia and then didn't account for, was postponed until Cannon's own appearance probably late this month. Miss Ada L. Burroughs, Richmond, an Anti-Saloon League clerk, notified the committee she knew nothing of the money, so she was excused from a committee subpoena.

Senator Blaine, republican, Wisconsin, only wet on the committee, questioned McBride closely during most of his third day in the witness chair, and engaged in frequent arguments on the merits of prohibition, including the "divine origin" of the Anti-Saloon League as asserted by McBride on his last appearance. McBride refused to discuss the subject today, when Blaine

Ragsdale May Bar Berry as Treasurer

Probability That Mayor I. N. Ragsdale Will Decline to Swear in Frank M. Berry, Newly Elected Treasurer of the board of education to succeed Henry B. Kennedy, resigned, loomed Tuesday night.

The board named Mr. Berry, who is cashier of the First National bank, over his opponent, Thomas C. Erwin, vice president and trust officer of the Citizens and Southern National bank, by a vote of nine to three, at its meeting Tuesday in the face of a ruling that Mr. Berry was not eligible to hold the position because he does not live inside the limits of the borough of Atlanta.

Mr. Ragsdale has followed the recommendations of the city attorney in virtually every instance, and Tuesday night declined to say what his attitude will be pending "further study of the matter."

"I can not say what I will do yet," the mayor said. "I shall go into the matter when I get to my office tomorrow, and will make my decision then."

Mr. Berry was nominated by Commissioner James W. Maddox, of the fifth ward, while Mr. Erwin was nominated by Commissioner J. Ira Harrelson.

The board held that the rules governing other branches of the government do not apply to the board, and elected Mr. Berry.

JONES ELECTED BANK DIRECTOR 8 MEN WILL GET HONOR DEGREES

World's Greatest Golfer Succeeds Lloyd Parks on First National Board.

Robert Tyre Jones, the same Bobby Jones who was quite recently the golfing partner of Edward, Prince of Wales, sometimes known in Georgia as the junior member of the firm of Jones, Evans, Powers and Jones, Tuesday was elected a director of the First National Bank of Atlanta.

Mr. Jones fills the vacancy on the board caused by the death of Lloyd Parks. In addition to membership on the First National board, Mr. Jones is a director of the Georgia Casualty Company, the Atlanta Athletic Club, the Piedmont Driving Club, the Atlanta Baseball Club and the United States Golfing Association.

This week he is with the Walker cup team, of which he is captain, competing against the British Walker cup team in England and after his contest he will compete again for the British open championship and the British amateur championship.

He has won eight major golf championships in addition to numbers of smaller ones. He was three times national open champion, twice British open champion and three times amateur champion of the United States.

Turner Misses Record Of 'Lindy' by Hour

CURTIS FIELD, N. Y., May 13.—(UN)—Colonel Roscoe Turner, with a Lion cub as a mascot, landed his express model Lockheed plane here at 8:40 p. m. today, failing by more than an hour in his attempt to set a new record for a one-stop transcontinental flight.

The record Turner sought to better was that of 14 hours, 23 minutes and 27 seconds established recently by Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh. Turner's estimated time was 15 hours and 40 minutes.

The flyer took off from Los Angeles at 1 a. m. Pacific time, which is equivalent to 5 a. m. eastern daylight time. He thus would have had to reach here by 7:23 p. m. to establish a new coast-to-coast mark.

Macy and Company, of New York city, will arrive in Atlanta Thursday and at the 11th annual commencement exercises of Oglethorpe University Sunday he will be awarded the honorary degree of doctor of commercial science in recognition of his outstanding ability in the field of business administration, commerce and finance.

Mr. Straus, a member of the prominent Straus family of Manhattan, Ga., is one of the leading merchant princes of the east and an active worker in education and scholastic movements. Recently he donated the sum of $1,000,000 to New York University.

Other distinguished citizens to receive degrees during the exercises, which will be held at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at the First Baptist church, are Governor L. G. Hardman, who will be awarded the degree of doctor of laws; Victor Henry Hanson, Birmingham newspaper publisher, doctor of letters; Louis Craig Slessman, of Ohio Northern University, doctor of science; Rev. Homer Thompson, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, South Atlanta, doctor of divinity, and the Rev. Wilbur A. Mr. Harrison has been clerk of the Georgia supreme court since 1871, treasurer of the bar association for 50 years and president of the Georgia Bar Association in 1928.

Theodore Swann, world-famous chemical engineer of Birmingham, Ala., will receive the degree of doctor of science.

SELECTION OF JURY IS EXPECTED TODAY

Counts Against City
Clerk Attacked by Reuben Arnold, of Defense, in Vitriolic Argument.

Indicating that he will throw out the Walter C. Taylor demurrer in its entirety and let the jury pass on any issues raised in the indictment, Judge Virlyn B. Moore in superior court Tuesday delayed announcement of his decision on the plea until today when he will permit Reuben R. Arnold, chief of Taylor's counsel, to make any concluding arguments he may desire before announcing his decision.

That Judge Moore will uphold the state's contention regarding the legality of the 25 counts contained in the bribery charging true bill was strongly evidenced Tuesday afternoon when he halted the rebuttal argument of Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, announcing that he "didn't believe further argument from the state was necessary."

Special Prosecutor William Schley Howard, who with Assistant Solicitor-General J. Walter LeCraw, was to support Mr. Boykin's argument, said after adjournment Tuesday afternoon that he could see nothing except a complete victory for the state concerning the demurrer and expected that selection of the jury would get under way shortly after the trial is reopened at 9 o'clock this morning.

Judge Moore's action in halting Mr. Boykin's statement was expected to be a long argument against the demurrer and a longer rebuttal argument on the part of Mr. Arnold and his associates.

The solicitor-general, answering a question of the court, said the state planned to put all of the 25 counts in issue, letting the jury decide which of the eight repeated counts are to stand and cited only one decision, an opinion of now Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, of the United States supreme court, to support his contention that Taylor is an official of the city and state government by virtue of his appointment as city clerk of the corporation of Atlanta.

The decision of Justice Hughes was one in which as an associate justice of the supreme court he reversed a federal district judge who had held that an employee of the commissioner on Indian affairs was not liable to trial under the federal bribery statute because he had no official status with the government other than an employee. The indictment against the because it will save you money.

When you buy at the A&P Food Stores you do not have to give 5c of every dollar for profit . . . nor 4c for profit . . . not even 3c.

A&P, unlike other food store systems, deliberately cuts its profit to less than 2½ cents on a dollar.

5,000,000 women every day find that A&P's lower profit on a dollar results in lower prices on standard high quality foods sold by all A&P Food Stores.

It is a saving habit to visit the A&P store first whenever you are in need of fine foods. A&P's low profit on a dollar . . . less than 2½ cents . . . means food dollars go farther at an A&P Food Store.

Retail Hardware Dealers Optimistic, Says Cottrell

Conditions in Florida Are Showing Considerable Improvement, States
Association President.

An optimistic outlook for business during the coming year was reflected in the mass opinion of southeastern retail dealers in the 15th annual convention of the Southeastern Retail Hardware and Implement Association, according to a statement made by Jennings D. Cottrell, Leesburg, Fla., at the conclusion of the first day's session held here Tuesday.

"Conditions in Florida," declared President Cottrell, "are showing considerable improvement and Florida dealers are encouraged as to the ultimate outcome in their state."

The convention formally opened Tuesday morning with registration of the delegates and a buying session, with several hundred visiting dealers from every part of the southeast and their wives in attendance.

The exhibit of hardware, implement and related lines completely fills the city auditorium. The exhibit will be open to the public from 9 o'clock this morning until 6 at night, and from 9 to 12 o'clock Thursday morning. Thursday afternoon the exhibit will be open to dealers and their wives only.

Perry G. Wall, former mayor of Tampa, head of Knight & Wall Hardware Company, and one of Florida's most prominent business leaders, was the first speaker on Tuesday afternoon's program. Mr. Wall urged dealers to give more attention to the buying and display of merchandise that appeals to the housewife, "for she is the deciding factor in the buying of your merchandise today," he declared.

Hugh C. Ross, of Jackson, Tenn., past president of the southeastern association, speaking on "What Is My Competition and How to Meet It," defined competition as "anything that tends to decrease sales or increase the cost of making a profit," declaring that part of this was within the dealer's control and that better business methods in buying, display, advertising and credits were essential to present day merchandising success.

Boosts Newspaper Advertising. "Newspaper advertising is one of the best ways to sell your store and your merchandise to your community; use direct mail and billboards as much as you can; and give more attention to the boys and girls, for they are your customers of the future," he urged.

Thamp Williams, of Hot Springs, Ark., past president of the national association, spoke briefly, urging every dealer to "know everything your store has done every day, through putting in a proper system of fact-finding and record-keeping to fit your business."

Thomas B. Howell, of Richmond, Va., a director of the national association, spoke briefly, followed by Rivers Peterson, of Indianapolis, editor of the Hardware Retailer, who declared that almost without exception those dealers operating under the business control plan developed by the national organization operated at a profit last year.

George M. Gray, of Coshocton, Ohio, former president of the national association, declared that "Retailing today is just as fundamental as it was 40 or 50 years ago but the trouble is we retailers haven't changed our policies to meet the new order of things. There is a great future for the retailer who will stick to fundamentals and change his policies and methods."

T. W. McAllister, editor Southern Hardware, Atlanta, conducted a question box discussion, in which a number of problems of trade were discussed from the floor by O. K. Jones, of Sweetwater, Tenn.; Hugh C. Ross, of Jackson, Tenn.; Ed Jarman, Baxley, Ga.; John Greer, London, Tenn.; Perry G. Wall, Tampa; George M. Gray, of Coshocton, Ohio; and C. W. Truitt, Commerce, Ga., and several others.

Election of Officers. There will be two business sessions today and election of officers and other business matters will feature the closing session Thursday morning.

The Georgia nominating committee follows: Ed Jarman, Baxley, chairman; H. Kilpatrick, Thomaston; Ralph W. Bridges, Atlanta; J. Woods Hammond, Griffin; J. D. Hudson, LaGrange; Marvin D. Norton, Marietta; H. E. Ragland, Newnan.

The Florida committee follows: Chas. A. Campbell, St. Petersburg, chairman; Peyton L. Yon, Tallahassee; V. M. Hoffman, Apalachicola; Newton McClung, Clearwater; H. S. Thompson, Miami.

The Tennessee committee follows: John B. Greer, London, chairman; H. W. Norton, Maryville; Lon Harkey, Sharon; Ira B. Taylor, Trenton; John F. Vaughan, Winchester.

The Alabama committee follows: B. H. Matthews, Camden, Ala., chairman; R. O. Cranford, Jasper, Ala.; T. O. Murray, Bessemer, Ala.; J. M. Thompson, Boaz, Ala.; John Ed Wal-lis, Sylacauga, Ala.

Lankford Defends Stand on Tariff

WASHINGTON, May 13.—(P)—Representative Lankford, democrat, Georgia, charged in the house today that Representative Snell, republican, New York, had attempted to leave "an unfair impression" with the country as to his stand on the tariff bill.

The Georgian took the floor to answer the New Yorker's assertion of last week that while Lankford and other democrats had voted duties on products of their districts, they had in effect opposed them in voting against the conference report on the measure.

At the same time Representative Snell challenged Lankford to show what he had done for agricultural tariffs.

During consideration of the emergency tariff bills nine years ago, Lankford said, he was the only member of the Georgia delegation voting for the measure. That bill, he continued, he considered fair to the agricultural products of the south.

Decrease Forecast In Sales Tax Revenue

Expectation that revenues from the gross sales tax in the first quarter of 1930 would fall $50,000 or more under the last quarter of 1929, was expressed Tuesday at the office of the state tax commissioner.

Whereas $327,000 had been received for the last 1929 quarter up to February 13, only $268,653.57 had been received Tuesday, the same number of days following the close of the first quarter of this year. The 1930 figure was $80,642.70 under that of the corresponding time after the last 1929 quarter, and was another $25,000 under the total received for the last quarter of 1929.

The present outlook, it was said, is that the complete revenues for the first quarter of 1930 will amount to $300,000 or less.

Fruit and Truck Production In State Far Below Demand

Farmers, Truckers and Horticulturists Losing Money and Prestige, Commissioner Talmadge Reports.

Production of fruit and truck farm products in Georgia is far below the demand, with resultant loss in money and prestige to her farmers, truckers and horticulturists, Eugene Talmadge, state commissioner of agriculture, said here Tuesday.

Last year almost 5,000 cars of fruit and vegetables were unloaded in Atlanta alone, he said, with only a small portion of the total Georgia grown. This was in addition to the vast amount of fruit and truck which comes into the city by truck, often from other parts of the south.

"The result is," said the commissioner, "that on practically every market table in Georgia we find fruits and vegetables from practically every state in the Union, while in many instances we could grow the same products better and more economically right here at home."

One of the constant inquiries to the state department of agriculture is what vegetables and fruits are marketable in the large cities. And the commissioner pointed to figures sent him by the federal bureau of agricultural economics as the answer.

Poor Showing in Apples. These figures show that during 1929 there were unloaded in the Atlanta market alone 525 carloads of apples. Only approximately one-fourth of these were produced in Georgia, the maximum number coming from Washington, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, West Virginia, Virginia, New York, Maryland, Idaho, Oregon and California.

The citrus fruits almost entirely came from out of state sources, for which local producers cannot be expected, the commissioner said. But there were 216 cars of grapefruit, 195 cars of lemons, 679 cars of oranges, all coming from Florida, California and Texas.

Georgia came through nicely with peaches, according to the figures, all of 27 carloads coming from this state except three or four from New York and California. But only one-third of 37 car loads of pears were produced in Georgia, the remainder coming from New York, Washington, Oregon and California.

Only one car load of plums and prunes was recorded, and that was from California, but 24 car loads of strawberries were disposed of, many of them from adjoining southern states.

Georgia again fell short in the production of cantaloupes, producing only a dozen or more cars of the 113 unloaded and distributed to merchants. California shipped in more than half of these cars, with Colorado, Arizona and North Carolina contributing. In the case of watermelons, however, the Empire state of the south redeemed herself, producing almost all of 590 cars for the Atlanta market. About 40 cars were brought in from Florida.

Truck Products. As regards the various truck products, Georgia according to the federal bureau figures made an even poorer showing. In cabbage alone, 243 cars were received, New York, Wisconsin and Texas contributing the largest portion. Imports were received from Virginia, South Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Ohio, Michigan, Iowa and Oklahoma, also.

California and Florida divided honors in celery, each shipping about an equal portion of the 292 cars received. Oregon, Colorado, Michigan and New York also contributed some of the celery that graced the Georgian's dinner tables.

California produced more than two-thirds of the 315 cars of lettuce, the federal figures show, while Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Washington and Oregon followed about in order.

Texas sent in about one-fourth of the 257 carload lots of onions, with California next in volume. Massachusetts, New York, Florida, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Idaho and Washington followed.

Irish Potato Total. Twenty-two of the 48 states contributed to the Irish potato appetites of the native Georgians, 972 cars coming from North Carolina, Idaho, Minnesota, Florida, Michigan, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Louisiana, Texas, Wyoming, Colorado, and Oregon. Georgia produced only about 50 cars of the total.

But in sweet potatoes, Georgia came through with practically all of the 124 cars unloaded on the Atlanta market. Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama and North and South Carolina contributed a few carloads. The last product listed, tomatoes, found 22 cars, coming mainly from Florida, California, South Carolina, Mississippi, Tennessee, Texas and Mexico.

Mr. Talmadge made it clear that this did not mean that Georgia products were being crowded off the market by those from out of the state. It merely means, he said, that Georgia farmers, truckmen and fruit growers were not taking full advantage of the opportunity offered them.

Herbert Porter Speaks at Club On 'Advertising'

Herbert Porter, advertising director of The Atlanta Constitution, was the principal speaker at the Civitan Club luncheon Tuesday at the Atlanta Athletic Club, taking "Advertising" as his subject.

Tracing the development of advertising from its earliest known forms, Mr. Porter explained the various forms of the business as it is known today, and presented interesting exhibits showing composition of newspaper advertisements.

As a souvenir of the meeting, each member of the club was presented with a line of type bearing his name.

The musical program was given by Mrs. D. C. Adams, leading soprano of St. Mark's Methodist church, accompanied by Miss Ethel Beyer, organist and choir director at Druid Hills Methodist church.

Dr. W. Earl Quillian, president of the club, presided.

Firefighters Enjoy Respite of 20 Hours

Board Will Retain Inman Park School

Councilman W. Paul Carpenter, of the ninth ward, backed by a delegation of prominent women, Tuesday afternoon secured the promise of the Atlanta board of education that the Inman Park school will not be abandoned and at the same time set in motion machinery designed to extend the grades in the school.

Mr. Carpenter asked the board not to carry out its plan to abandon the school, which is located near the viaduct on Edgewood avenue, but to make the institution a six grade school instead of three as at present.

The board voted to keep the school in operation and referred to Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, the request that it be enlarged. Mr. Sutton will make his report at the next meeting of the board.

Students To March In Jaycee's Parade

R. O. T. C. units of the Atlanta public school system will march in the progress and prosperity parade to be staged May 22 under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, under a ruling Tuesday of the board of education.

Permission was granted with Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson, commissioner from the sixth ward, opposing.

Schools To Buy Gasoline in Bulk

Atlanta school system will buy gasoline in bulk and at wholesale prices in the future and thereby save approximately $800 annually. The board of education Tuesday afternoon instructed Raymond R. Hittie to install a tank at a cost of $150 in which to store the fuel. It is estimated that large amounts of money can be saved through this practice.

Anti-Trust Action Filed Against Radio Corporation

Ten of Biggest Concerns
Named in Action; Young Welcomes Chance To
"Get Out of Politics."

WASHINGTON, May 13.—(AP)—Suit to test the validity of radio licensing agreements among 10 of the leading manufacturers of radio equipment was filed by the department of justice today in the district court at Wilmington, Del.

The government alleged in its suit that patent agreements gave the defendants control of the radio business which enabled them to prevent outsiders from getting licenses except on the defendants' terms. The suit brought under the Sherman anti-trust law was directed against the Radio Corporation, General Electric, Westinghouse, American Telephone and Telegraph, the Western Electric Company, the R. C. A. Photophone Company, the R. C. A. Radiotron Company, the R. C. A. Victor Company, the General Motors Radio Corporation and the General Motors Corporation.

While the suit was concerned chiefly with the legality of the licensing plan, the department also charged that the proposed business arrangement between the Radio Corporation and the General Electric and Westinghouse companies would have the effect of "perpetuating the control already obtained by the defendants."

The department said the government's petition alleged that the defendant corporations have operated under patent agreements which have been enlarged in scope and number until the companies now virtually control the radio business and development.

The control, the department said, had been brought about by "a novel method of cross licensing patents," so that no outsider could obtain a license except on terms prescribed by the defendants.

"The suit is concerned chiefly with the legality of these patent arrangements," the department said. "The petition filed alleges that the defendants, most of whom are competitors, by issuing patent licenses to one another have created a combination or pool through which they exercise joint control over the radio industry and that competition among them has ceased, and that no outsider can obtain a license except on terms jointly prescribed by the chief defendants."

The department said the defendants have "earnestly contended that they are doing nothing more than they are authorized to do under the patent laws," and that because the situation was "an intricate one" it was desirable that the questions be settled in the courts.

The filing of the suit follows charges which have been made frequently by independent radio groups during the last few years that the big manufacturers control the radio industry through radio licenses. Those allegations were revived last January when B. J. Grigsby, of Chicago, chairman of the board of the Grigsby-Grumow Company, testified before the senate interstate commerce committee regarding what he said were agreements his company was forced to enter into before it could manufacture radios. After giving his testimony Grigsby called on President Hoover and later upon Attorney-General Mitchell.

The department of justice in announcing the filing of the suit said the petition would not be made public here until noon tomorrow. It said that this was necessary because there were many questions involved that it would be impossible to prepare it before that time.

OWEN D. YOUNG WELCOMES SUIT.

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP)—Owen D. Young, chairman of the executive committee of the Radio Corporation of America, tonight issued a statement saying the corporation "welcomes" the suit filed against it today in Wilmington, Del.

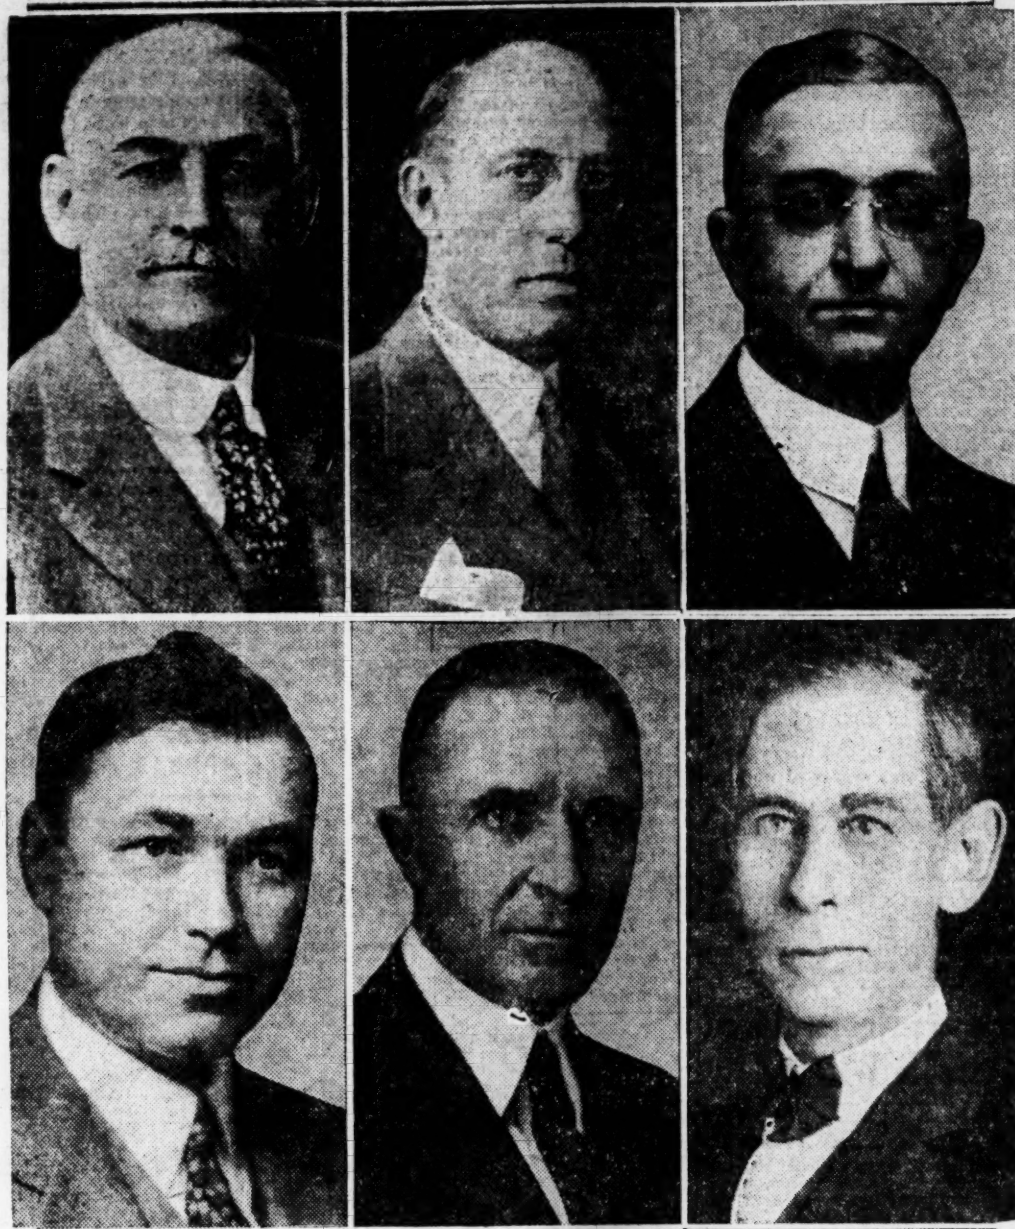

After declaring that the R. C. A.'s organization has now existed for more than 10 years and that the government has been advised "in every step," Mr. Young continued:

"In 1919 when the company was organized, no one concerned in the country had the necessary patents to enable it to develop the radio art and create a business. The purpose of the organization of the Radio Corporation was to release the art by grouping patents enough in one place so as to enable sending stations to be created and receiving sets to be built. That this was accomplished is shown by the rapid development of the radio business."

"In order to promote competition in the art and in the business, and to avoid patent litigation which would have prevented development, licenses have been issued to 34 concerns to make radio tubes. Between them, as the public knows, competition is severe. These licenses provide a royalty payment, which was intended to represent the fair contribution of the licensee to the expenses of the research and the cost of the original patents. It was intended to be less than the royalty payment would have been had the patents remained in scattered hands. All these licenses are licensed under all new inventions and have the benefits of all existing research of the Radio Corporation and its associated companies in the field which the licenses cover."

"This arrangement seemed wise. As a result an industry was born, thousands of people were enabled to listen, without charge for programs. There can be no question of benefit to the public. There is apparently now, looking backward, and because of a recent court decision in another industry, question in the mind of the department of justice of a technical violation of the law. Certainly, if there be anything illegal in the set-up of the Radio Corporation, its officers, directors, and stockholders are more deeply interested in that question than either master of arts degrees during the exercises. The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered before the senior class Sunday night at 7:45 o'clock by the Rev. Wilbur A. Cleveland.

During the morning graduation exercises brief talks will be delivered by Mr. Straus and each of the other recipients of the honorary degrees. Musical features include the singing of the alma mater song and hymn by William Taylor, an Oglethorpe student, whose tenor voice has won him an enviable name in the vocal world.

A dramatic moment in the graduation exercises will take place when President Thornwell Jacobs makes posthumous presentation of the diploma that, had he lived, would have gone to Wade Bryant Arnold, of Spartanburg, S. C., who died recently. The diploma will be presented to his mother, who has lived, would have gone to Wade Bryant Arnold, of Spartanburg, S. C., who died recently.

Fred Snook, of Atlanta, will make the salutatory address, and music for the occasion will be under the direction of J. D. Hoffman and W. L. Hambrick, of the First Baptist church, both morning and evening. Dr. Ellis A. Fuller, pastor of the First Baptist church, will participate in both services.

Edgar Watkins, president of the board and chairman of the executive committee, will present the honorary degrees. Graduates in the school of science will be presented by Dean J. F. Sellers; in the school of arts and letters by Dean J. F. Nicolassen; school of education by Dean H. J. Gaertner; school of business administration by Dean Arthur S. Governor Hardman will receive a hood in which the colors of the university—old gold and black—are blended with royal purple, which is the color signifying the degree of doctor of laws. Mr. Hanson's hood will have the university colors blended with white, the symbol of arts and letters, while Mr. Swann's will be of golden yellow as will that of Dr. Slessman, signifying the degree of science. The hood presented to Mr. Straus will bear the

Sagging Auto Springs Not Liquor Evidence

MIAMI, Fla., May 13.—(AP)—Federal Judge Lake Jones held today that sagging springs under an automobile are not sufficient cause for search of the car for liquor. He subsequently dismissed William Wright, negro, and ordered his car, confiscated by customs agents, returned.

The ruling was made after James Wallace, United States customs inspector, testified that he found 45 gallons of moonshine liquor in Wright's car when he searched it on suspicion, and without a search warrant.

The negro was indicted recently by a federal grand jury in connection with the case.

Policeman Tuggle Mourns Loss of Dog

Patrolman E. J. Tuggle, of the Atlanta police department, rates well as a man hunter. Once he gets his man, the man never gets away until Tuggle has discharged his own responsibility in the premises.

But he's a poor hand at either finding or keeping in custody his own pet dog, even if it is a spotted fice. Tuesday he was riding about town with "Frisky," his pet, in the car with him. "Frisky" suddenly decided to go places. Late Tuesday night no report had been received of the pup's whereabouts.

"Frisky" is about a year old, weighs about 15 pounds and has an unusually intelligent appearance. Patrolman Tuggle will give a reward for the return of his pet and he searched it either at police headquarters or 1407 Van Epps avenue.

New U. S. Cruiser Passes All Tests

ABOARD U. S. S. SALT LAKE CITY, May 13.—(AP)—Rear Admiral E. W. Kittelle, president of the naval board of inspection and survey, deemed "highly satisfactory" the final acceptance test of the U. S. S. Salt Lake City in the cruiser's speed run at sea today.

Ploughing through the Atlantic 70 miles southeast of Norfolk, the Salt Lake City averaged 32.5 knots in a four-hour full speed ahead run.

She made 21 knots full speed astern and her engines developed 110,000 horsepower.

The Salt Lake City is the first of the eight 10,000-ton light cruisers commissioned under the navy's 1924 construction program.

Sergeant York's Home Town Swept by Fire

JAMESTOWN, Tenn., May 13.—(AP)—Eight buildings in the downtown section of Jamestown were destroyed by a fire that broke out late last night and was not extinguished until early this morning. Damage was estimated unofficially at $150,000. Two department stores, a new theater just being completed and the postoffice were among the structures burned, but all the mail and other valuables were saved from the postoffice. The buildings were located on Main street. Cause of the blaze was undetermined.

Labor Government Is Beaten Again

LONDON, May 13.—(AP)—The labor government was defeated in the house of lords today on its thorny coal mines bill, which passed the house of commons only after long and bitter struggles and a parliamentary defeat on one section.

The vote today was 134 to 38 and came on an amendment moved by the Earl of Dudley, conservative.

Lord Dudley, former governor general of Australia, who owns mines and iron works, moved in committee stage that the quota of coal allotted by the central board for production in each district should not be less than the home consumption in the district.

Rudy Vallee Voted Maine Varsity 'M'

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP)—The voice that has charmed thousands of feminine hearts by its crooning melodies tonight won an honor usually reserved for champions of the gridiron and other athletic heroes.

At a dinner of the New York branch of the University of Maine Alumni Association, held in Brooklyn, Rudy Vallee was awarded a varsity "M" for popularizing the university's Stein song.

Charles Crossland, alumni secretary, came down from Orono, Maine, to make the presentation.

Eight American Girls To Meet King George

LONDON, May 13.—(AP)—In a swirl of feathers and lengthy trains excited girls of a dozen nations, including eight Americans, are anxiously practicing sweeping curtsies before their mirrors tonight in preparation of the bows they will make at the season's first royal court at Buckingham palace tomorrow.

The formal white gowns with their long court trains have received their final fittings, prescribed ostrich feather headresses have been tried on bobbed coiffures, and long white gloves laid out in anticipation of tomorrow's curtsy before the twin golden thrones.

One change will be noted in the costumes of the girls who make their court bows this season. Most of them have chosen to carry small round old-fashioned bouquets instead of the tremendous feather fans long in vogue. The presence of King George at the court for the first time in two years will lend particular glamour to the occasion as 800 notables—his majesty's subjects and foreign guests—take the opportunity to give public thanksgiving for the king's return to health after a year's illness and convalescence.

Last year the Prince of Wales, deputized for King George, stood beside his mother.

Parisians keep one eye on the jewelry to attain perfect

chic for afternoons.

We had the lostest feeling when we heard about the tiny pieces into which Parisian designers slice up afternoons. To follow the Frenchest of the French, one would spend her time after noon in the recesses of her boudoir, changing her jewels in time with the lowering of the sun's rays.

We may be a bit old-fashioned, but we imagine that women consistently (?) do one of two things: they go "special places" or they just go "plain places." They go in the early afternoon or late afternoon, or both. The "plain places" usually are taken in early—and jewelry is impressively simple. The "special places" come later—and then jewelry assumes a dignity in keeping with the hour.

Again we invite your inspection of our thrillingly up-to-the-minute department where jewelry for simple or complex afternoon hours has been reduced to a common denominator of chic at fractional costs!

For simple afternoon—bubble jewelry, aqua-tint, or crystal.

For complex afternoon—tear-drops exclusively, except for pearls.

Baptist Convention Opens Today in New Orleans

New President To Be Named To Take Place of Dr. G. W. Truett, Who Is Retiring.

NEW ORLEANS, May 13.—(P)—Between a hymn and a prayer, nearly a thousand ministers, laymen and women workers swung into action here today in preparations for the formal opening tomorrow of the annual Southern Baptist convention when a new president is to be named to succeed the retiring president, Dr. G. W. Truett, of Dallas, who refused to have his name submitted for nomination.

While the Woman's Missionary Union, ministers, laymen and official boards today in conferences received reports and laid plans for a quickening of interest in religious, educational and benevolent financing, the Rev. J. Frank Norris, the fundamentalist pastor of Fort Worth Baptist church, gave vent to a movement he reported was under way to unseat him in the convention and invited his brother Baptists to try to oust him for his stormy manner of preaching the Gospel. "I hear whispers from our Baptist politicians—and we have our politicians in the Baptist church as they have them in every church—that they are going to bring charges against me and try to oust me from this convention," the Rev. Norris declared.

"Well, I hope they do it—I just hope they try to do it. All my life I have fought against politicians inside the church. I'll die fighting them. They may want to unseat me in the convention because I am an insurgent. They will not succeed because nine out of ten delegates to the convention want the lid off."

J. H. Henderson, of Knoxville, Tenn., southern lay delegate, today requested his friends in the convention not to place his name in nomination for president, thereby causing virtual abandonment of the movement to elect a lay president.

Names in prominence tonight for the honor are Dr. M. E. Dodd, of Shreveport, La.; Dr. John E. White, Savannah, Ga.; Dr. W. J. McGlothlin, Greenville, S. C.; and Dr. C. W. Daniel, of Richmond, Va.

Delegates here are planning to offer the claims of Birmingham, Richmond and Kansas City with other cities expected as the convention city for 1931.

Throughout the day a large number of laymen were in session studying the part the layman should play in various phases of Christian service, while Dr. J. B. Lawrence, secretary of the home mission board, Atlanta, and Dr. T. B. Ray, executive secretary of the foreign mission board, conferred informally with more than 200 pastors on arousing a new interest in missions.

Dr. A. J. Barton, chairman of the committee on special service and chairman of the executive committee of the Anti-Saloon League, with his committee began preparation of their report including a treatise on the administration of the prohibition act, the Hoover law enforcement commission and the modern trend of immorality.

The financial report of the Woman's Missionary Union offered by Mrs. W. C. Lowndes, of Maryland, showed that in the last 20 months the Baptist women had raised in cash a total of $2,963,741.57 for the work of the church, of which state objects and allied work received $1,013,597.46, foreign missions $841,523.10 and home missions $248,118.08.

Mrs. W. J. Cox, of Memphis, president of the Woman's Missionary Union, declared the hope for the coming decade is to give enthusiastic attention to woman's work among the negroes and to cultivate the missionary activities of the young women of the denomination.

The resolution which the board approved will be sent to the school board committee of the Atlanta board of education.

Other members of the committee in addition to Dr. H. H. Harrison, chairman, were Dr. J. H. Harrison, chairman, and Dr. J. H. Harrison, chairman.

The damages were distributed as follows: Morningside $486.85; Haygood State $969.01; Edgewood and Grant Park schools $824 each.

Doctor in Hospital; Assailant Jailed

Dr. W. E. Brice, proprietor of the Sylvan Hill Pharmacy at 909 Dill avenue, was in a local hospital Tuesday night with a broken leg and a dislocated ankle and body bruises, as the result, a police report said, of an attack made on him early Tuesday night by B. S. Young, father of a delivery boy discharged by Dr. Brice early Wednesday afternoon.

Reports to police headquarters said that Young was accompanied by two other men who aided him in beating Dr. Brice up but Young, held under bail of $1,000 to answer a charge of disorderly conduct and assault and battery, told police he alone made the attack.

Brice was under ether at an early hour Wednesday morning and could not be questioned by police as to whether Young alone or Young and two companions, as police first reported, assaulted him.

France, Italy Discuss Knotty Naval Tangle

GENEVA, May 13.—(P)—France and Italy today discussed their related naval problems, with Great Britain looking on and adding in the conversation.

Archie Briand, the French foreign minister, was host at a luncheon to Dino Grandi, Italian minister of foreign affairs, the British foreign minister, contributing his views on the solution of this hard problem left over from the London naval conference.

Today's luncheon was an indication that the ministers who are so anxious would take advantage of the League of Nations council session to reopen their conversations on the foremost political problem of the day in Europe.

It is realized that reconciling the naval ambitions of the two countries and leveling them with those of Great Britain may be a formidable task, but observers today were hopeful that a compromise formula would be settled upon before the preparatory disarmament commission convenes November 3.

British Girl's Plane Damaged at Rangoon

RANGOON, Burma, India, May 13.—(P)—Amy Johnson, the intrepid English girl flyer, attempting a solo flight to Australia, came to grief today when she suffered an accident two miles from here.

Miss Johnson, although her plane was somewhat damaged, escaped injury herself.

Mistaking the playing field of Insein, for the Rangoon race course, the girl flyer attempted a landing. Although she came down perfectly her plane taxied into a ditch.

The wings, wheels and propeller were slightly damaged.

Miss Johnson said that, if possible, she would resume her flight tomorrow.

Summer in Europe Dim for Collegians

NEW YORK, May 13.—The old collegiate custom of chaperoning a boat load of college boys during summer vacation and then "jumping ship" for a junket on the continent had better be abandoned this year, W. A. Tinker, secretary of the Intercollegiate Y. M. C. A., warns.

With unemployment what it is, the docks thronged with idle seamen and shipping companies wary of the collegians whose passage they generally are forced to pay back to this country, Mr. Tinker believes this would be a good year for the collegians to stay at home unless they have money to travel on.

Vandals Again Menace Train in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., May 13.—(P)—Vandalism again menaced the Illinois Central system last night as the seventh attempt to wreck a passenger train failed eight miles this side of Meridian, near Lost Gap.

Ties and rails had been piled on the tracks of the Vicksburg division in the path of train No. 238, local passenger train operating between Vicksburg and Meridian, and Jackson, but due to slow speed the engineer saw the debris in time to stop his train.

In addition to a reward of $10,000 offered for apprehension of the guilty party, the Illinois Central officials today issued slow orders to all passenger trains in an effort to avoid a more serious tragedy than that at Harrison early Sunday when two trains collided as train No. 13 was wrecked.

FIRST DRY KILLER MUST SERVE TERM

U. S. Circuit Court Upholds Two-Year Sentence for Shooting.

CINCINNATI, May 13.—(P)—Conviction of Roy V. Miller, first federal prohibition agent convicted of killing a man during a liquor raid, was upheld here today by United States circuit court of appeals which refused the defendant's plea to reverse a ruling of United States district court of western Kentucky.

Miller was convicted in federal court at Paducah, Ky., for the killing in 1925 of Frank Sears near Boone, Ky., during a search for a still. He was sentenced to two years for voluntary manslaughter. His appeal to district court for a new trial was denied and he carried the case to the court of appeals.

Miller was indicted with Miller after it was discovered the victim had been shot by more than one gun as the body contained buck-shot and bullets from two different caliber pistols. They were Clarence Gossett, a Christian county, Kentucky, deputy sheriff, and James Fox, farmer, and are serving two-year terms. The prosecution proved that Miller, Gossett and Fox apparently all fired at Sears at the same time.

Miller informed Sears he was a federal agent hunting for a still. Sears, repairing an automobile, told Miller to "go ahead" and continued working on the machine.

Two shots occurred during a search of a tent that was used by Sears, his wife and children, when Sears unexpectedly leaped to his feet and the victim died instantly from nine bullet wounds.

It was established at Miller's trial that he was the first federal agent to lay the victim during a raid since the prohibition law went into effect.

Teachers Not Required To Reside Within City

Teachers in the Atlanta public school system do not necessarily have to live within the limits of the borough of Atlanta, according to action which was taken Tuesday afternoon at the May meeting of the board.

A rule which would require all teachers and other employees to reside inside the limits of the borough was brought to the board with an adverse report and that recommendation was adopted by a vote of 10 to 2. Adoption of the adverse report killed the move to force all employees to live in the borough.

Mrs. C. C. Winchester Hurt When Car Skids

Mrs. C. C. Winchester, wife of a well-known Brookhaven real estate dealer, living at 128 Fernwood drive, was seriously injured late Tuesday afternoon when the car she was driving skidded at the intersection of Pace's Ferry road and Piedmont road and crashed into a telephone pole.

Although rushed to a private hospital after the accident, members of the family said late Tuesday night that it was impossible to tell the extent of the injuries Mrs. Winchester received but that the first examination indicated they were not as dangerous as had been feared.

Witnesses said that when the car skidded Mrs. Winchester apparently lost control.

Atlanta Population Outstrips Providence

Providence, R. I., was another city Atlanta marched by in population returns Tuesday, making the fifth city in succession among the 32 ahead of her in 1920 now passed. The latest report places Atlanta in 28th place.

Providence has a population of 250,288, an increase of 12,692, or 5.3 per cent. Atlanta jumped from 200,616 in 1920 to 351,635 in the 1930 preliminary check to which prohibitions will be added an additional 10,000 when the counting has been completed and the returns are in.

Atlanta now is ahead of Akron and Columbus, Ohio; Portland, Ore.; and Rochester, N. Y.

The Oglethorpe Players Club will present two commencement plays at 8 o'clock tonight in the Oglethorpe University chapel. The plays are "Mind Your Own Business" and "Mauve Lady."

The first was written by Bettie Arnold, a junior in the literature and journalism department at Oglethorpe. The "Mauve Lady" is written by Charles Willis, an Oglethorpe alumnus.

Attempted Holdup On Trolley Is Foiled

An attempted street car holdup in broad daylight at the end of the Ponce de Leon-Emory line was frustrated Tuesday by the prompt defiance of Operator C. W. Cunningham of "hands up" orders of a negro bandit who attempted to rob the motorman and a passenger, Lewis Dinkins, of 1129 Bonaventure avenue.

Instead of complying, the operator whisked out his own gun and turned it on the bandit, who fled, stopping only long enough to fire a few shots in retaliation, none of which took effect. The bandit escaped.

Witnesses said that when the car skidded Mrs. Winchester apparently lost control.

Business Conditions Better, McLaurin Tells Grocers

Prospect for Improved Wholesale Trade Particularly Bright, President Tells Convention Here.

Business conditions are showing great improvement throughout the country and particularly is the prospect for better wholesale trade brighter than ever before, in the opinion of J. H. McLaurin, of Washington, D. C., president of the American Wholesale Grocers' Association, as stated Tuesday in his annual address to the 38th annual convention of the association at the Atlanta Biltmore.

"Wholesale grocers," Mr. McLaurin told the delegates, "today are much better off than they were during any previous year—and particularly as compared with the dark conditions that existed immediately following the World War."

The president of the association devoted the principal part of his address to an appeal for the humanization of the wholesale grocers' business, exhorting the members of his organization to a closer method of cooperation and a broader understanding of one another's needs and affairs.

Other speakers at Tuesday's business session expressed optimism over the outlook for the grocery business, including W. A. Albright, president of the Atlanta Wholesale Grocers' Association.

RALPH H. DAVIS, Supreme Scintilla of the U. C. T., who will speak to the grocers today.

Association: W. J. Oldfield, of Gastonia, N. C.; J. E. Talmadge, of Athens, and C. F. Griffin, of Cincinnati.

"Skies Are Bright," Mr. McLaurin told his hearers that "the skies are brighter for us who suffered with overstocking after the World War, and the resultant decline of markets."

He severely criticized national food manufacturers and chain retail dealers for what he characterized as "unfair discrimination" of the former in its dealings in behalf of the latter as against the independent wholesale distributors.

"It simply is a question," he said, "of whether the United States wants its wealth centralized or if the community business is to survive. Most of the large national food manufacturers have created a demand for their products by the expenditure of thousands of dollars in national advertising campaigns in widely-circulated weekly and monthly periodicals and have discriminated unfairly against us in favor of operators of the chain stores." He pointed out these alleged discriminatory tactics as being "rebates, display and floor allowances and advertising refunds."

A remedy for the so-called chain store "evil" was suggested by R. A. Hazen, of Knoxville, one of the original organizers of the association, who advised the delegates that if they would "spend one-fourth the time you spend in talking about chain stores in working for your own business" an improvement would be noticed.

During the afternoon an executive session was held, during which the principal business to go before the meeting was a technical address of Edgar Watkins, of Atlanta, general counsel for the association, on the subject of the recent results of litigation in the meat packing phase of the anti-trust act. Mr. Watkins reviewed the various consequences of litigation against what he termed the trade-restraining practices of the large meat packers and informed the wholesalers that he was hopeful of an eventual favorable verdict in the highest courts in the country against such policies.

During the executive session the ladies of the convention were taken on a tour of inspection of the downtown shopping districts. At 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night the delegates and their guests attended the Fox theater.

Wednesday's program consists of a morning session beginning at 9:30 o'clock under the presidency of August Janssen, Jr., of Cincinnati, with addresses by Wilbur Orr, president, National Food Brokers' Association; C. E. Hume, president, National Grocers' Association; George E. Olds, Jr., president, Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc., and former State Senator E. D. Rivers, of Lakeland, Ga., and an executive session in the afternoon for general discussion of trade problems. A bridge party for the ladies will be held at the hotel beginning at 2:30 this afternoon.

In three days your pain will be eased. Then, in a week or so, you will notice that the acid condition that caused your trouble will begin to be relieved, and the first bottle will convince you that you have at last found a remedy that will restore your stomach to its natural healthy condition where you can eat good, wholesome food and enjoy it. No need to suffer with ulcers, hyper-acidity, distress after eating, stomach pains, gas or sour stomach, indigestion or constipation, for you have at last found a remedy that will heal you just as it has healed thousands of others, often after all other treatment had failed. If you want to be free from pain in three days, and be entirely free from stomach troubles in a remarkably short time, write for full information to Atlanta, Ga., Room 24, Wellhouse Bldg., 99½ Walton St., Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

FRANK M'DONOUGH IS ADJUDGED SUICIDE

Drama of Despondency Over Lack of Funds Unfolded at Coroner's Inquest.

The story of a man's precipitate response to the summons of the woman he loved, which started him on his way from New York to Florida and which ended here in despondency and death was unfolded Tuesday when a coroner's jury determined that Frank McDonough, 28, of New York city, committed suicide by hanging early Sunday morning.

No word left behind by the man over whose body the inquest was held—no hint of disillusionment or indication of discouragement over being stranded in a strange town without sufficient funds to reach his destination, but piece by piece police unraveled the drama.

McDonough had received a telegram from his fiancée, Mrs. Helen McNaul, of Jacksonville, asking him to come to her. According to his sister, Mrs. Anna McCue, of New York city, her brother had complied at once, not even stopping to pack a traveling bag. That was two weeks ago.

Testimony of telegraph office employees at the station, as well as that of a taxi driver, Victor S. Langdon, showed that the man had reached Atlanta, where apparently he was stranded. He wired his fiancée collect. The charges on the telegram were refused at the Florida end. He wrote, and waited for a reply. It never came.

His last talk was with Langdon at about 3 o'clock Sunday morning. Less than four hours later his gray-clothed body was found swaying in the wind.

P. J. McDonough, of Carbondale, Pa., the father, has wired instructions to Atlanta for disposition of the body with a request that last rites of the Catholic church be administered here.

County Orders Dog Quarantine For Two Months

Quarantine of all dogs in Fulton county because of the unusual prevalence of rabies was ordered Tuesday by the Fulton county board of health in adopting recommendations by T. F. Sellers, of the state board of health laboratories.

Recommendations adopted by the county health board will be turned over to Charles B. Shelton, county attorney, for drafting, and will be adopted formally by the board at a meeting to be held Saturday. The quarantine probably will be put in effect early next week for 60 days.

By quarantine, the county health board means that every dog owner in the county outside of the incorporated municipalities will be required to keep his dogs confined on his premises for 60 days, or longer, if necessary, it was said. Within a reasonable time after public notification of the quarantine has been made, the county police will be authorized to kill all dogs found elsewhere than on the premises of the owner or to otherwise dispose of dogs thus found, unless the dogs are wearing properly stamped metal tags showing that they have been vaccinated against rabies one year prior to the quarantine, the recommendations provide.

Figures supplied by Dr. Sellers on the increase in positive dog heads received during the past year follow:

	From Fulton County	From the State
January	1929 1930	1080 1090
February	7 22	41 33.6
March	3 25	50 58.0
April	8 46	68 67.6
May	10 21	27 79.0

Dr. Sellers said that the number of treatments supplied to persons who suspected rabies were bitten by rabid animals has increased tremendously during the first part of the year over the same period of last year.

Hardman Is Invited To Narcotic Meeting

Richard Pearson Hobson, Spanish-American war hero, and more recently an international figure in a campaign against narcotics, called Governor L. G. Hardman at the executive offices of the capital Tuesday and invited Georgia's governor to attend an international conference on the suppression of narcotics to be held in London in April of next year.

"Governor Hardman is one of the best equipped men I know to aid in the campaign against narcotics," Captain Hobson said. "He is not only familiar with the evils of narcotics from a physician's viewpoint, but from that of a scientist. His experience as governor would make him invaluable to us."

Governor Hardman said that he would like to attend the London conference, but that he could not say at this time if he could.

Extradition of Pair Is Sought by Florida

Two requisitions brought by the state of Florida seeking the extradition of Georgia citizens were taken under advisement by Governor Hardman Tuesday. The cases were heard by John B. Wilson, secretary to the governor.

One sought to extradite E. M. Fry, of Homerville, on a charge of enticing laborers from Madison county, Florida. Fry strongly contended that the laborers, all negroes, came to his place voluntarily, seeking employment.

The other proceeding sought the extradition of W. L. Rowan, Nashville businessman, for an alleged assault upon a DeFuniak Springs (Fla.) girl. Rowan, who denied the charge, introduced evidence of an offer from the girl's family to settle the matter for $1,000, and urged that the whole affair was an attempt to extort money from him.

Hero of World War Asks Compensation

Tom Silver, of Comer, a Georgia World War veteran holding the Congressional Medal, the highest award this country bestows upon its soldiers, and the Italian cross for bravery, called at the state capital Tuesday seeking compensation for disabilities received in service.

Silver was accompanied to the capital by R. Howard Gordon, solicitor-general of Madison county. They called at the veterans' bureau and at the governor's office. Silver said that he had been unable to work since his discharge from the army, being hindered by a bayonet wound in the back.

NEW FOOD PRODUCT POPULAR IN ATLANTA

W. T. D. Gibbs Is Highly Pleased With Acceptance of Oystero Here.

W. T. D. Gibbs, vice president of the Gibbs Preserving Company of Baltimore, Md., manufacturers of Oystero and other food products, arrived in Atlanta Tuesday morning to attend the annual convention of the National Wholesale Grocers' Association.

Mr. Gibbs is very favorably impressed with Atlanta, particularly in view of the acceptance Oystero had here when it was placed on the market recently. Oystero is the latest product the company has, affording a quick and convenient way of making oyster stew, as well as about 20 other dishes, including salads.

Atlanta was selected as one of three cities in the United States in which to introduce Oystero. It was at the time of the cooking school conducted by The Constitution under the direction of Jessie Marie DeBoth, and The Constitution was selected exclusively for the advertising campaign announcing the new product in Atlanta.

Mr. Gibbs says that excellent distribution was obtained here in a very short time, and that as a result of the hearty acceptance given the product at the beginning, the company decided to place it on numerous other markets. The product has now gained wide popularity, according to Mr. Gibbs, considering the short time it has been on the market.

Among other well-known products manufactured by the Gibbs company and sold on the Atlanta market are Bull Head catsup, Bull Head beans, and Bull Head Jelly. The company is represented here by Fair & Martin, one of the leading food brokers in this territory.

E. J. Bannart, vice president of Cecil, Warwick & Cecil, advertising agency representing the Gibbs company, who is attending the convention with Mr. Gibbs, announces that an extensive advertising campaign is being planned for next fall on all of these food products, concentrating on Oystero.

In the manufacture of this new product, according to Mr. Gibbs, only Chesapeake Bay oysters, widely-known for their quality and size, are used, and the recipe followed is one that has long been famous in Maryland.

Coca-Cola Is Making Record, Says Lindsey

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP)—Lindsey Hopkins, Atlanta capitalist who plans to sail tonight on the liner Europa for a two months' trip to Europe, said that of all the enterprises with which he is connected the Coca-Cola company is the only one that is doing as well as last year. "The Coca-Cola Company," he said, "is establishing new records for volume of sales and net profits and I think the outlook for the company over a reasonable period of time is encouraging."

Display of Diamonds Attracts Attention

Nearly 400 diamonds weighing approximately 75 carats, arranged in a novel display in the show window of Claude S. Bennett, diamond merchant, at 118 Alabama street, S. W., are attracting the attention of hundreds of persons daily passing the store.

The display is a reproduction of Mr. Bennett's nameplate, "Claude S. Bennett, diamond merchant," which he uses in the business. He announces that the display will be in his show window all this week. The retail sales value of the diamonds used in the sign is placed at more than $30,000.

Dr. McElveen To Speak At Piedmont College

Dr. W. T. McElveen, pastor of the United Congregational church, has been selected to deliver the commencement address at graduation exercises at Piedmont College, Demorest, this year. Dr. McElveen will go to Demorest on Tuesday, June 3, where he will deliver the address at 10 a. m.

Time for Returning Taxes Is Extended

Extension of time until May 30 for making Fulton county tax returns was granted Tuesday by Edwin F. Johnson, county tax receiver. The tax books will have to close at the end of the day on May 30, as the digest must be in the hands of the state comptroller general by August 1, Mr. Johnson said.

The time extension was made possible by the fact that the tax receiver's office has installed a bookkeeping machine to speed up the preparation for the digest. Mr. Johnson said that 55,000 citizens have returned taxes so far, and he believes that another 5,000 or more will call at his office before the end of the month.

Every Headache Is a Warning

What is a headache? Physicians tell us that headache is "the cry of over-taxed nerves for rest." The cause of simple headache is high nerve tension or strain, which leads to high blood pressure and serious injury to the nervous system.

The next time you have a headache, neuralgic or rheumatic pains, or periodic pains, try the improved method of relief—two teaspoonfuls of Capudine in a little water. Being liquid, Capudine gives relief almost instantly—much quicker than tablets and powders. It relieves by soothing the tense nerves—not by deadening them. Contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach, therefore, is the ideal remedy.

For over thirty years Capudine has been bringing relief to those who suffer from nervous pains. You, too, will find it a joy and comfort when your nerves are unstrung and when you suffer from pain. At drug stores in 30c and 60c sizes.—(adv.)

$1,000 IN CASH PRIZES FOR THE F

Reproduced, on these two pages are four auction bridge hands; the top is SOUTH or Dealer; the second, WEST; the third, NORTH, and the fourth, EAST. The play is to be at regular auction bridge. Dealer bids . . . others in rotation. This is the fourth of a series of twelve bridge hands, being offered to readers of The Atlanta Constitution, a different hand appearing in this newspaper each Wednesday for twelve weeks. To the contestants making the highest scores in the twelve games played, $1,000 in CASH prizes will be awarded. Please read these rules carefully so that no misunderstanding will ensue.

1—Hands are to be played with ordinary playing cards. The auction bridge hands reproduced above are merely to denote hands to be used by the players.

2—In bidding, there is to be no doubling. A revoke disqualifies the hand.

3—Special Tally sheets are to be used in keeping scores, and these tally sheets are issued FREE to contestants and can be secured only from the firms co-operating in this contest. There are no obligations of any kind and contestants can secure tally sheets simply for the asking. A different tally sheet is to be used each week. Go to any of the 55 firms represented on these two pages, and they will be pleased to give you a tally sheet for the week games are to be played. Get your tally sheet from a different firm each week—get acquainted with all of the advertisers on these two pages.

4—Write neatly and concisely just how you played your hand. This is very important. Prizes will be awarded for individual effort. Submission of answers identical in their description of the manner of play will be considered sufficient evidence of collusion and result in the elimination of any such answers from further consideration. There is a special place for writing the outline of play on the Tally Sheet.

5—The following is a list of prizes to be offered winners making the highest scores and offering the clearest explanation of play in this Auction Bridge Contest:

LONG'S TALK SENDS SOLONS TO BUSINESS

Louisiana Legislature Hears Governor's Message and Tackles Work.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 13.—(AP)—After hearing the formal address of Governor Huey P. Long before a joint session of the house and senate today, the Louisiana legislature prepared to settle down to the routine work of considering the large number of bills which found their way into the hoppers of both houses.

The last vestige of an attempt to secure a reorganization of the two chambers disappeared today when Senator Henry Larcade withdrew his resolution providing for the appointment of a standing committee on organization in the upper house.

With 42 bills already dropped into the house hopper and 21 in the senate, indications point to a steady accumulation before the end of the week.

The work-a-day atmosphere of both houses today was in marked contrast to that yesterday when a spirited effort was made in the house to oust John B. Fournet as speaker and the senate anti-administration forces made an unsuccessful attempt to name a president pro tempore before crowded galleries.

Chief among the bills introduced in the house were measures dealing with highways and highway revenues. A bill by W. H. Bennett would provide for abolishing the present appointive highway commission and creating instead a nine-man elective commission by the people. In addition, the measure would provide for the issuance of $61,000,000 in bonds for hard surfacing and building rural roads.

The most important bill introduced in the senate today would permit parishes and municipalities to extend new industries from taxation for a period not to exceed five years as a means of encouraging new enterprises.

Most of today's session in both houses was taken up with hearing the message of Governor Long, who outlined briefly the problems to which he addressed the legislature to give careful consideration and announced that the administration this year is sponsoring only one proposition—good roads.

Both houses adjourned until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

O'Donnelly Estate Left to His Widow

The will of the late Robert E. O'Donnelly, a member of the Keely Company, was probated in solemn form Tuesday before Judge Thomas E. Jeffries, Fulton county ordinary. The document bequeathed the entire estate to the widow, Mrs. Mary S. O'Donnelly, and named her as executor.

More Uncertain Weather Seen For City Today

The uncertainty which has characterized Atlanta weather for the past two days will continue through today, according to the forecast of C. F. von Hermann, head of the local branch of the United States weather bureau, who said that conditions favored showers.

Beginning with Sunday, Atlanta has passed through a series of days of unsettled weather. With the forecast for Monday reading "showers" and that given Monday morning saying "fair," the heavens opened Monday afternoon with a downpour which placed 5.5 inches of water on the ground.

Tuesday's forecast, also for clear weather, was left unfulfilled when lowering clouds brought rain on the Monday afternoon. The depth of the rain, it was said at the weather bureau, was negligible.

Tuesday's low temperature was 60 degrees, and high was 77. Approximately the same was expected for today.

Jaycee Speakers Ask Civic Clubs To Aid in Drive

What the progress and prosperity movement of the Junior Chamber of Commerce is doing for Atlanta was explained Tuesday to five civic clubs by a special group of speakers.

Speaking before the Kiwanis Club, Frank K. Shaw, secretary of the industrial bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, asked the co-operation and moral support of Kiwanians. "Our purpose," he said, "is to create through accurate information a better understanding of the underlying soundness of Atlanta industrially, commercially and economically. A wider appreciation of its phenomenal progress and to familiarize the people of Atlanta generally with its relative gratifying state of prosperity."

Co-operation of members of the Civitan Club in the movement was asked by Allen Wheelock, who spoke at the weekly luncheon.

"This is the message we want you to help us broadcast," he said. "Let's put our foot down on knockers. Atlanta wasn't made the great city it is today by knockers. It owes its size, its population, its prosperity to the indomitable energy, the unlimited loyalty and the proud spirit of co-operation of the citizenry."

Foreign Trade Club Hears R. H. Ackerman

Chile offers an ever-growing market for the products of the south, in the opinion of Ralph H. Ackerman, commercial attaché for the United States at Santiago, speaking before the Atlanta Foreign Trade Club Tuesday noon, presided over by Robert Hecht, president.

Contrary to the general impression, our sales in the Chilean market are approximately equal to the combined exports of Great Britain and Germany in that country.

"The United States has made heavy investments in the southern republic, the Chilean government and finances have become stabilized in recent years, and industries have sprung up and developed rapidly with the result that the purchasing power of the people is increasing steadily with a corresponding demand for conveniences and luxuries."

An entertainment feature was provided by A. N. Houston, Jr., through the courtesy of the Cunard Steamship Company, in the shape of a moving picture entitled "Main Street Around the World."

Announcement was made by Mr. Hecht of the visit of a group of eminent European journalists to Atlanta the latter part of May and preparations were launched by the club for entertaining them in collaboration with the Atlanta newspaper publishers, the Chamber of Commerce, and other groups. The following committee was appointed for this purpose: T. G. Douglas, Croom Partridge, H. Irving Schweppe and H. O. Mitchell.

Dr. Hinman Reported As 'Holding His Own'

The condition of Dr. Thomas P. Hinman, one of the most widely-known dentists in the south, who was confined to his home last week with a severe attack of pleurisy, Tuesday afternoon was reported as still critical, although it was said that he was "holding his own."

Dr. Hinman was stricken last Thursday and since that time his condition steadily grew worse. Tuesday, however, members of his family declared that indications were that prospects for improvement were more hopeful.

Orders from the navy department received at Georgia Tech Tuesday notified the unit of the navy reserve officers' training corps at the institution that instead of making the cruise this summer to Panama on the U. S. S. Texas their detachment would go on the Mississippi, a larger and more modern vessel.

The Tech detachment will accompany a similar unit from Yale, leaving Charleston, June 14 for Panama for maneuvers and training. They will be gone 14 days.

25 Per Cent of U. S. Spend Beyond Means

DALLAS, Texas, May 13.—(AP)—Twenty-five per cent of the American population have incurred monthly obligations larger than their incomes, one of the economic consequences of installment selling, Dr. Clyde William Phelps, head of the department of economics, University of Chattanooga, estimated in an address today before the annual convention of the National Association of Credit Men. While installment selling has undoubtedly had a stimulating effect on business, it has also, in many cases, had a disastrous effect on consumers, Dr. Phelps declared.

"The ill-effects should be guarded against by closer credit co-operation to prevent over-buying on the part of the people who are unable to budget their incomes and plan ahead." The association adopted "Quit Singing the Blues" as its theme song.

Freudian thoughts on the Quest for Happiness

"America at the present day offers good opportunity for studying this injurious effect of civilization which we have reason to dread..."

"Women soon become antithetical to cultural trends and spread around them their conservative influence—the women who at the beginning laid the foundations of culture by the appeal of their love."

"Man has become a god by means of artificial limbs, so to speak, quite magnificent when equipped with all his accessory organs; but they do not grow on him, and they still give him trouble at times."

"I am speaking... of that way of life which makes love the centre of all things and anticipates all happiness from loving and being loved..."

"What is more natural than that we should persist in seeking happiness along the path by which we first encountered it?"

"Unbridled gratification of all desires forces itself into the foreground as the most alluring guiding principle in life, but it entails preferring enjoyment to caution and penalizes itself after short indulgence."

"The question: 'What is the purpose of human life?' has been asked times without number; it has never received a satisfactory answer; perhaps it does not admit of such an answer."

"The liberty of the individual is not a benefit of culture. It was greatest before any culture... Liberty has undergone restrictions through the evolution of civilization, and justice demands that these restrictions shall apply to all."

"Life as we find it is too hard for us; it entails too much pain, too many disappointments, impossible tasks. We cannot do without palliative remedies."

Oglethorpe Alumni To Probe Dismissal of Libby and Wife

Body Will Meet Tonight and Go Into Controversy Between Professors and Trustees.

Learning that the board of trustees of Oglethorpe University in executive session had voted to dismiss Dr. Arthur S. Libby, dean of banking and commerce, and his wife, Mrs. Cora Steele Libby, professor of economics and banking, the alumni of the university Tuesday announced its intention to meet tonight and go further into the facts of the controversy.

William C. Morrow, an alumnus, Tuesday announced plans for the alumni meeting, which will take place at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Atlanta Athletic Club, where the trustees' action in notifying the economics head and his wife that their contracts would not be renewed June 1 will be thoroughly thrashed out.

The controversy, it was learned, has grown out of the action of Dr. Libby, who, as mayor of the North Atlanta section, acted to remove what he termed as "illegal" barriers and obstacles placed across roads leading from Peachtree road to Silver lake, these roadways running through or fringing on the university property.

Edgar Watkins, chairman of the board of trustees, it was revealed, recently notified Dr. Libby that his expiring contract would not be renewed. No reason was given in the chairman's letter to Dr. Libby, an identical copy of which was sent to his wife, but Dr. Libby's lengthy answer went into details, revealing that a breach of opinion between the trustees and the council of North Atlanta has existed since last summer.

According to Dr. Libby, university authorities last August and again this spring placed trees and gates across four roadways leading from North Peachtree road to Silver lake. These, he said, he was compelled to have removed by policemen, his council having voted unanimously for such action, terming it "illegal."

Mr. Watkins' letter to Dr. Libby, after stating that "while it perhaps is unnecessary, it is fair to you that I write this letter," merely notified the dean that the contract expiring May 31 will not be renewed.

Here are seven of the reasons why Welch's is fast becoming the favorite breakfast fruit juice in many thousands of homes:

1. Welch's is the pure, unadulterated juice of luscious Concord grapes. Pasteurized.
2. Welch's is rich in fruit nourishment and mineral salts, and so perfectly adapted to the human system that it is taken into the blood-stream without digestive effort, releasing quick new energy. It's non-fatening.
3. Welch's is already squeezed. No fuss!
4. There's no squeezer to clean, no machinery to sterilize. No muss!
5. There's not a particle of waste!
6. In every pint there are six liberal portions, making Welch's only 5c a glass—costs even less if diluted with one-third water, and many prefer it so.
7. It's ready instantly. And temptingly delicious. You simply dilute to suit taste, pour and serve.

At your hotel or club, ask for grape juice on your "club breakfast," and insist on Welch's. For "Wash to Serve Welch's," Free, write to Welch's, Dept. B, Westfield, N. Y.

HOWARD M'CUTCHEON ASKS RENOMINATION

Announcement by Councilman Howard M. McCutcheon, of the second ward, that he will ask renomination, and withdrawal of Leo Suderth, attorney, from the contest for recorder of the second division, Tuesday featured political developments as candidates prepared for the democratic primary of June 18, when 23 borough officials must face the voters of Atlanta for nomination.

Mr. McCutcheon was chairman of the special committee which supervised the election of new Atlanta city hall, and has championed many improvements for the ward and for Atlanta.

Retirement of Mr. Suderth from the recorder's race narrowed the opponents down to three with John L. Cone, city paymaster; Frank R. Fling and John E. Chambers, attorneys.

"I wish to take this opportunity to thank my many friends who pledged me their support, but feel that I can not make a race at this time," Mr. McCutcheon said.

At the same time, Luke Arnold, newly elected to council to succeed Councilman Harry York, of the sixth ward, issued the following statement in announcing his candidacy for nomination for a full term:

"In announcing my candidacy to succeed myself as a member of council from the sixth ward, I have been elected by the voters of the sixth ward. I do so with a thorough understanding of the responsibility of the position to which I am elected, and I believe that the experience which I will gain between now and the first of the year will be valuable.

I believe that the number of members of general council should be reduced. They should be elected, however, in such a manner that the operation of the democratic white primary would not be impeded. The closer the government remains to the people, the better for both the people and the government.

I favor a re-organization of the board of education by reducing its members and by enacting laws that would assure every school teacher receiving their full pay without constant threat of reducing pay and closing schools.

Every community, and particularly the sixth ward, should have adequate playgrounds operated under the supervision of the department of parks in order that children of this community may enjoy outdoor recreation without having to play in the streets and alleys.

I believe the present tax rate adequate for all purposes economically administered, certainly the small home owner carries more than his part of the necessary expenses of government, and I shall oppose with all of my strength any effort to increase his already too heavy burden.

I represent no faction, sect or creed. No one has picked me for the office. If I am elected, I shall be free and unhampered to work for the best interests of the city of Atlanta in the sixth ward. To this end, I pledge my best efforts and for this reason I respectfully solicit your consideration.

In promotion of policemen and firemen, I believe that seniority rights should be given careful consideration.

Ormeau Park Meeting.

Candidates for mayor have been invited to address the voters of the Ormeau Park section at a meeting of the Ormeau Park Improvement Club to be held at 8 o'clock Thursday night at the Anne E. West school.

The city registrar's office will have a member of that office present at this meeting from 7 to 8 o'clock to register voters who have not yet registered for the June city primary.

A large delegation of citizens of the seventh ward met Tuesday night at the home of G. W. Branch, 504 Hopkins street, S. W., and discussed plans for the support of J. T. Marler, a candidate for city council. Organization of a "Marler" club for council will be perfected at another meeting to be held soon.

Fanning, of East Point, as one of the two negroes who robbed him at the point of a gun shortly after midnight on the morning of May 7, at the end of the Emory University line.

Fanning was robbed of about $50 of power company money and $10 of his personal funds.

SCHOLARSHIPS GIVEN BY ROSENWALD FUND

$5,000 Gift Made to Library School; Embree Announces Alexander's Appointment.

The gift of five $1,000 scholarships to induce southern men to enter the library school of Emory University, the observation that people outside of Georgia are more concerned over its educational problem than the residents of the state and first announcement of the selection of Dr. W. W. Alexander as a trustee of the Rosenwald Foundation were included in a series of developments attendant upon the visit to Atlanta Tuesday of Dr. Edwin R. Embree, president of the Foundation.

Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory, announced that the five scholarships of $1,000 each will be given to induce five outstanding men graduates of southern colleges to enter the library school of the university.

The scholarships will be awarded by a committee composed of Miss Tommie Dora Barker, director of the Atlanta library school; Jackson E. Towne, of the Rosenwald fund, and President Cox.

Heretofore enrollment in the library school has been limited to women, but with removal of the Atlanta library school to the Emory campus as a division of the university it will be made co-educational.

Dr. Alexander becomes one of two trustees in the south, the other being Edwin Stearnes, of New Orleans. Dr. Harry Woodburn Chase, recently elected president of the University of Illinois, will continue as a member but his removal from North Carolina left a southern vacancy on the board.

A native Tennessean, Dr. Alexander has been a resident of Atlanta for the past 12 years and at present is serving as executive director of the interracial commission. He is a graduate of Vanderbilt University, a contributor to many leading magazines. He was a member of the conference which went to Jerusalem to make a study of international racial relations.

People living outside of Georgia are more interested in the development of educational facilities for Georgia children than Georgians themselves, Dr. Embree, president of the Foundation asserted in a brief luncheon address at the Atlanta Athletic Club Tuesday.

Dr. Embree was a guest of Cator Woolford, head of the Georgia College Placement Service, at a luncheon to which 30 prominent Georgia educators and businessmen had been invited. He was in the city in connection with the Foundation's recent gift of $250,000 to the negro training school established by the Community Employment office, an institution which he highly praised after an investigation of its personnel and training facilities.

Dr. Embree declared that Atlanta is one of the four southern educational centers and one of the leading centers in the country in providing higher education to negroes. He deplored, though, the fact that the best talent in southern colleges is being drafted by northern and western institutions who are willing to pay them more money.

Kendall Weisiger was in charge of the luncheon.

North Carolina U. Alumni To Gather

An important meeting will be held by Atlanta alumni of the University of North Carolina at 8 o'clock Thursday night in the directors' room of the Chamber of Commerce building, it was announced Tuesday by T. H. Higdon, 1032 Hurt building, chairman of the committee in charge of the meeting. Felix A. Grisette, director of the loyalty fund of the university, will be the principal speaker.

Assisting Mr. Higdon are W. M. Little, J. F. Cresswell, H. H. Harrell, J. W. Speas and Shepard Bryan. No solicitation of funds will be made during the meeting, Mr. Higdon announced.

Stimulation of interest in county-wide registration and voting by citizens of DeKalb county, together with an address by Judge Frank Harwell, of Decatur, will constitute the program of the DeKalb League of Men Voters' mass meeting to be held at 7:45 o'clock Thursday night at the courthouse in Decatur.

A representative of the League of Women Voters of DeKalb County also will be present as spokesman from that organization and citizens from all over the county are urged to attend.

Move To Redistrict A.M.E. Church Made

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13.—(AP)

The committee on episcopacy of the general conference of the colored Methodist Episcopal church, in session here, today recommended that the church be redistricted and bishops b assigned to districts by the committee. Since the organization of the church more than 50 years ago bishops have assigned themselves to their respective fields. A "rotation" law requiring that bishops change districts every four years has been in effect for eight years but the system has not been as effective as desired. The recommendation that the episcopacy committee assign districts must be acted upon by the conference before it becomes a church law.

3 IMPORTANT WEDDINGS ON WEDNESDAY'S CALENDAR

Brides and Brides-Elect Share Social Spotlight Today

Popular brides and brides-elect are sharing the social spotlight on today's calendar events. Evidently the old superstition about May being an unfortunate month for brides has worn itself out. BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

A QUESTION OF RELATIONSHIP. BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Peter thought this over for a few minutes. "Well," said he, "I've learned something. Still, if you and Miner the Mole belong to the same order, it seems to me that you are related."

"Huh!" exclaimed Blarina. "That's the way you feel about it, you must consider yourself related to Robert the Rat."

Peter's ears stood straight up with indignation. "Certainly not!" he cried.

"Then I don't suppose you will admit that you are related to Prickly Porky the Porcupine?" exclaimed Blarina.

"Of course I'm not!" retorted Peter. "It would be silly to think of such a thing."

"No more silly than to think that I am related to Miner the Mole because I belong to the same order," retorted Blarina. "You belong to the order of gnawing animals. So do Robert the Rat and Prickly Porky and Paddy the Beaver and Happy Jack Squirrel and all the members of the Mouse family and John Chuck and some others. They all belong to different families, but they all belong to the same order. So there you are! I'm not a Mole and I don't want to be called a Mole."

Peter scratched a long ear with a long hind leg. "Perhaps you're right," said he.

"I know I'm right," retorted Blarina.

"The Mole family and the Shrew family both belong to the order of insect eaters; while the Mouse family belongs to the order of gnawing animals, and that is a very different matter."

Mrs. Gordon Smith Gives Initial Social Event in New Home

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 13.—Mrs. Frances Gordon Smith, who formerly resided in Atlanta, and has recently completed a handsome home on Hickman road on the hill in Augusta, was hostess at a house warming, the occasion marking the initial social event given in her new home. The artistically furnished rooms, the flowers accentuating the color scheme of the rooms, the wonderful picture of the formal garden which the piazza overlooks, a garden abloom with hundreds of gorgeous pansies and brilliant hued verbena, the colors so varied and so colorful that the garden resembled some mosaic of color set in the enamel of green lawn.

In the living room where Mrs. Gordon-Smith and her daughter, Mrs. William Robinson Brown, of Berlin, N. H., received the guests there were delicately toned flowers which found the pale green walls their perfect complement. The console mirror in the hall was flanked with gladioli in bronze and pink. In the dining room the table was one of unusual beauty and elegance, the quaint old mahogany legs upholding the top, a full length mirror. Additional interest centers in this exquisite piece of furniture from the fact that it was one of the mirrors which had adorned the walls of Southernland, the colonial John B. Gordon home in Kirkwood in Atlanta.

A central bowl of blue crystal was filled with pink Kadence roses, while blue crystal candlesticks held glowing pink candles. Blue crystal compotes were filled with bonbons, nuts and cakes. The mantel and buffet were adorned with silver baskets filled with roses, and massive old silver candelabra held unshaded pink candles.

In the Chinese room with its wealth of blossom, Mrs. J. Hardwick Jackson presided at the tea service, and on the terrace with its glass-topped, slender, wrought iron tables, Miss Virginia Battey served punch from an old punch bowl of hand-painted china. Miss Frances Brown, of Berlin, N. H., and Miss Louise Battey assisted in entertaining. There were about 50 guests who enjoyed Mrs. Gordon-Smith's gracious hospitality and lingered amid the colorful surroundings until late afternoon.

Mrs. Gordon-Smith wore a handsome gown of chiffon printed in pastel shades. Mrs. Brown was given in printed chiffon showing a pink rose design on a cream background.

STAR ALABAMA HURLER TO JOIN CRACKERS

WAYWARD BOY
BOSWELLED BY
Ed Sanford

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13.—"What do you like for the Derby?" was the first question put to Wayward Boy, cuckoo clocker for the Epworth Racing Form, who has been filling his annual engagement for The Atlanta Constitution, keeping tab on the hosses.

"Well, of course, I am going to give the Earl a breath of old England by coming out in what we boys down at the Cheshire Cheese used to put on when the oat-burners were running at Epsom," Wayward replied. "The old top and the red jacket and the jodphurs and boots and the crop and the stop-light nose, you know."

"But what the others will wear is still a question. The Earl's secretary ain't answered my telegram yet. None of us knows what the Earl will wear Saturday."

"And say, why do they call him 'Earl'?" I always figured that was something to put in the car on head lettuce."

Good old Wayward, voting dry, but all wet nevertheless, simply had flunked again.

MIXED HIS DERBIES.

Wayward was sent on to Louisville as usual to mingle with the hosses and see what they had to say about the matter—in years gone by Wayward has done right well—but now he, too, has gone "Darby" crazy. He has gotten his derbies mixed, as in a restaurant.

And unless something is done about it right quick, the Kentucky Derby is going to run a bad second to the Lord Derby.

WHAT TO WEAR.

Nothing could stop Wayward from elaborating on the matter of what to wear to the Downs Saturday. He has conducted a searching investigation and has handed in the most complete report ever made in a style proper.

It made only the official bulletin on what His Lordship will wear to confirm it.

Wayward's report covers more pages than Walter Taylor's demurrer. Condensed it might read something like this:

"Mr. Sam Culbertson, president of Churchill Downs, says it will be perfectly all right for one and all to wear just any old thing to the Derby this year. Come right on in with what you have on. Everything will be very informal. Just make yourself at home."

"However, from past experience with the weather and other conditions at Churchill Downs Derby Day I would suggest that each visitor adopt the following costume:

"Trench helmet, raincoat, binoculars, the other suit, copper-toed boots, umbrella, palm leaf fan, canteen of drinking water, box lunch, roller skates, second mortgage on the home place and a small tent."

THE FORM SHEET.

Several of these items may need explanation.

The trench helmet is for protection from binoculars dropped from the second tier of boxes by horseless turfmens from the Cicero Athletic Club, Chicago.

The raincoat will prevent the old B. R. from being abstracted from the pants pocket while standing in the crowd looking at the mutual indicator boards.

The binoculars are to look at airplanes passing overhead.

The other suit should be the one that doesn't matter.

The copper-toed boots will save weeks of limping afterward.

The umbrella also is useful for pointing at Lord Derby.

The palm leaf fan will be a life-saver unless it rains or snows when it can safely be thrown away.

The canteen of drinking water is the big item—try and get a chaser in a hurry on Derby Day.

The box lunch will save you enough to lose on the Derby.

The roller skates will get you home.

The proceeds of second mortgage will get you through the first four races of the day.

And the tent will give you the only laugh you can get on the hotel clerks.

Wayward may achieve a life's ambition at the "Darby."

All Wayward's life he has been talking through his hat (usually a derby) and oh, how he has longed for an English accent. Wayward plans to have the earl say, "The quick brown fox jumped over the lazy dog."

He will then hear all the letters of the alphabet with the proper accent. Wayward is studying the alphabet this week.

What To Wear

Wayward Boy (above) was photographed as he will appear Saturday when he will view the Derby in the box occupied by Lord Derby, seventeenth Earl of Stanley. Wayward, in case you haven't been told, is a first-class Earl-can. This is the same costume he wore to the Easter egg hunt breakfast of the Sirion and Onions Club the other day.

Blaeholder Signs St. Louis Contract

NEW YORK, May 13.—(P)—George Blaeholder, holdout pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, finally has signed his 1930 contract and has been reinstated to good standing. Blaeholder signed in St. Louis three days ago but did not join the team until last night when it reached here from Boston. The terms of the contract were not announced.

Manager Bill Killefer denied the persistent reports that Blaeholder might still figure in a trade, and said that the pitcher would not start a game for at least five days more.

SEDFIELD COUNTRY CLUB.

GREENSBORO, N. C., May 13.—

(P)—Two days of the 19th annual running of the Women's Southern Golf tournament are history and not an upset has occurred to feature the carnival on the snappy Valley Brook course here. All the best-liked players survived today's first round of match play with the "big four" of 1930 Dixie golf sweeping ruthlessly through the field, headed, apparently, for the semi-finals where the first real battles of the tournament are scheduled to get under way.

The last of the Virginians fell by the wayside today, leaving only eight states with representation in the second round tomorrow.

Of the 16 survivors in the championship division five hail from North Carolina with Charlotte furnishing three of these; three are from Georgia; Tennessee and Louisiana contribute two apiece and one each come from Alabama, Arkansas, Florida and Oklahoma.

All of the four ranking favorites breezed through today's encounters with plenty of room to spare. In fact, only four of the 16 matches developed into anything resembling contests.

Miss Margaret Maddox, the wildest defending champion from Atlanta, had no trouble disposing of Mrs. K. J. Brown, of Durham, N. C., five and four; Mrs. Marion Turpie, of New Orleans, who rules a favorite to dethrone Miss Maddox, took another North Carolina star into camp when she turned back Mrs. Marshall Crichton, also of Durham, six and four; Mrs. David C. F. Gault, the Memphis veteran, ran up a score of eight and seven to defeat Mrs. Leon Jones, of Norfolk, and Mrs. Leon Solomon, the youthful surprise from Memphis, coasted to an early 6 and 5 decision over Mrs. Jack Villas of Hot Springs, Ark.

Easily the day's hardest duel fought was between Sedfield's encounters with Mrs. W. F. Deuschle, of Winston-Salem, N. C., and Mrs. A. Taylor, of Atlanta, who journeyed to the 21st hole before the Atlanta came out on top, one up.

Results of the other first rounders follow:

Miss Helen Waring, Pinchurst, N. C., defeated Mrs. Paron Jarboe, Greensboro, N. C., 7 and 5.

Miss Anne Kennedy, Tulsa, Okla., won from Mrs. Frank Bisbee, Jacksonville, Fla., 3 and 1.

Mrs. E. C. Hollins, New Orleans, beat Mrs. John Henry, Greensboro, N. C., 7 and 6.

Mrs. W. D. Irwin, Greensboro, N. C., defeated Mrs. Richard Ballinger, Hickory, N. C., 6 and 4.

Miss Deane Van Landingham, Charlotte, N. C., won from Mrs. Bernard Cone, Greensboro, N. C., 2 and 1.

Mrs. Keenan Rodwell, Savannah, Ga., defeated Mrs. W. G. Jerome, Winston-Salem, N. C., 8 and 6.

Mrs. W. H. Willard, Charlotte, N. C., beat Miss Mary Nabb Phillips, Birmingham, Ala., 9 and 8.

Mrs. Harry Dodge, Jacksonville, Fla., won from Mrs. Morton Rose, Knoxville, Tenn., 3 and 1.

Mrs. Carl Leibold, Birmingham, Ala., defeated Mrs. J. H. Wither, Danville, Va., 7 and 5.

Miss Clara Woodridge, Little Rock, Ark., beat Mrs. Allen Mebane, Greensboro, N. C., 5 and 4.

Mrs. W. L. Pierce, Charlotte, N. C., defeated Mrs. R. J. Deane, Winston-Salem, N. C., 5 and 4.

MARGARET LÖSES.

In the playoff for the medal this afternoon, Mrs. Lake, who tied with Miss Maddox yesterday, won the honors with a 76 against the Atlanta woman's 80.

Mrs. Lake's sensational round equaled the best Sedfield has seen for women established only last Sunday by Mrs. Leon Solomon, of Memphis.

The New Orleans star went out in 38, only one over men's par, and took a 40 coming in. Miss Maddox required 40 strokes each way.

The card:

Out 443 444 445—36

In 463 455 445—40

Miss Maddox—454 544 364—40

In 454 454 364—40

Tomorrow's pairings follow:

Mrs. Solomon vs. Mrs. Lewis; Miss Kennedy vs. Mrs. Hollins; Miss Van Landingham vs. Mrs. Rodwell; Mrs. Dodge vs. Mrs. Leibold; Mrs. Taylor vs. Mrs. Pierce.

GLENN COLLETT MEETS BRITISH LEADER TODAY

Seven Americans Fight Way Through Field to Fourth Round.

FORMBY, England, May 13.—(P)

The big field in the British women's golf championship, tonight was reduced to 32 with 7 Americans among them. Five visitors from overseas fell today but the invaders still were without major casualties as they entered the fourth round tomorrow morning.

There was conceded a good chance for the Americans to place six in the last 16 and some close observers saw a possible last eight made up of four Americans and four British players.

Two rounds will be played tomorrow and when the day's play is done the quarter-finals will emerge.

THE VICTORS.

Glenna Collett, Virginia Van Winkle, Leo Federman and Mrs. Stewart Hanley had to win only a match each today but Helen Hicks, Maureen Orcutt and Edith Quier had to surmount two obstacles to fight their way to the fourth round.

The five Americans defeated were Mrs. O. S. Hill, who won her second round but lost in the next, and Miss Louise Fordyce, Miss Fritz Stifel, Miss Peggy Wattlew and Mrs. E. F. Lenihan, eliminated in the second round.

Tomorrow brings the serious stage of the championship. If the hopes of the Americans are running high, so are the expectations of the home guard for only one leading British player has been eliminated, Miss Doris Chambers, former champion, defeated by Miss Helen Hicks yesterday. Mrs. Temple Dobell, the former Gladys Ravenscroft, also was beaten today by Miss Beryl Brown, but she no longer considers herself a serious title contender.

HARD DAY AHEAD.

Hard matches are forecast for tomorrow, both morning and afternoon. One of the first serious international clashes arrays Miss Collett against Miss Molly Gourlay, English amateur champion and conqueror of the American champion in the informal matches at Sunningdale early this month.

It seems certain that either Miss Collett or Miss Gourlay will go through the first quarter of the draw. The Americans are well scattered.

Helen Hicks, who scored two victories today by the same margin, 7 up and 5 to play, Helen Hicks, Federman and either Maureen Orcutt or Edith Wilson in her way. Miss Wilson, who will meet Miss Orcutt if they both win their morning's matches, toyed with her opponent today, scoring 5 out for the lowest count of the day on the first nine.

Miss Quier, the only American in the third quarter, has Diana Fishwick as her most dangerous rival. Miss Van Winkle and Mrs. Hanley are in the fourth quarter, with Mrs. Hanley facing the most serious opposition.

One of the English casualties today was Miss Mabel Wragg, who defeated Miss Collett at Hunstanton in 1928. She was beaten by Dr. Alexander at the 18th hole.

On the accepted theory that one day of sunshine is enough for a golf tournament in Great Britain, today's mist spoiled the morning matches. However, the skies cleared and big galleries followed the feature matches in the afternoon. Earlier in the day the players unlimbed their umbrellas and battled their way through wind and rain.

HEAVY CLOTHES.

Most of the Americans added an extra sweater and Helen Hicks donned knitted mittens, leaving the tips of her fingers free. Glenna Collett started wearing a waterproof but quickly shed it to do some heavy work in the afternoon. Earlier in the day the players unlimbed their umbrellas and battled their way through wind and rain.

THE RESULT OF THE AMERICANS' PLAY TODAY:

Miss Helen Hicks, New York, defeated Miss Barbara Law, 7-up and 5 to play in the second round and won from Mrs. J. A. Hardwick, 7 and 5, in the third round.

Miss Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., won from Mrs. Edith Quier, 2-6, in the second round and won from Mrs. B. C. Sturgess-Wells, 2-up and 1 to play in the third round.

Miss Edith Quier, Englewood, N. J., won from Mrs. B. C. Sturgess-Wells, 2-up and 1 to play in the third round.

Miss Glenna Collett, New York, defeated Miss Mary Baxend, 4-up and 2 to play in the third round.

Miss Leo Federman, New York, defeated Miss Marjorie Jura, 6-up and 4 to play in the third round.

Mrs. J. B. Walker, 2-up and 1 to play in the third round.

Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit, defeated Miss Doris Park, 1-up in the third round.

Miss Glenna Collett, New York, defeated Miss Mary Baxend, 4-up and 2 to play in the third round.

Miss Leo Federman, New York, defeated Miss Marjorie Jura, 6-up and 4 to play in the third round.

LEONARD FINDS SOME FAULTS IN MAX' STYLE

Former Lightweight Champion Likes German's Work, However.

BY BENNY LEONARD.
Retired Undeclared Lightweight Champion of the World.

ENDICOTT, N. Y., May 12.—In his second day's workout here in preparation for his fight with Jack Sharkey, Max Schmeling was much easier to hit than on his first day, and while he appeared a bit slower in general, he showed speedy flashes and was much more effective with his blows. He boxed only four rounds, two with Sylvan Androlite and two with Vincent Babin. He had Androlite bleeding from the nose much earlier in their engagement and once, in the second round, he clipped Sylvan with a beautiful right crack on the chin that put the sparring partner on the floor.

A SOUTHPAW.

This fellow Androlite is a natural southpaw fighter, and is trying to fight in the Orthodox manner. This makes him appear a bit futile in his work with Schmeling.

Max showed a fine straight left today, and he was timing his right with precision. He shoots this punch over very rapidly. In the infighting Max did not look as good as he did on the first day, but this might have been because he had his sparring partners a bit hurt nearly every time he went into a clinch. A right crack to the chin usually preceded the clinching.

In the second round with Vincent Babin, Schmeling banged over a straight left, a hay jab and this sent Babin on the lower ropes. It would have been a clean knockout if the rope hadn't been there to act as a resting place for the sparring mate.

At that Babin and Androlite, too, landed more frequently on Schmeling today than either of them was able to do the day before. Max didn't appear to be trying so much to escape punches as he was trying to send them over with telling effect. In other words, Schmeling was sharpshooting today.

GOOD BLOWS.

He did not seem much in fighting today as he did on Sunday. He didn't shoot his punches to the body at all in his bout with Babin, but he did plant a few blows to the body in the set-to with Androlite. I think it would be better for Max to pay more attention to the body attack. It is this kind of an attack that will wear down Sharkey. At the same time it will sort of counteract a body attack by Sharkey.

I notice that Schmeling has a habit of blinking his eyes as he comes out of a clinch. This may be from the head-gear, which he wore today and on Sunday. If it isn't, then it's a fault that Max must correct. It may be that Schmeling took some of the straight lefts to the face, which he did take today, in order to help him rectify this blinking.

The two rounds with Babin lasted about four minutes each and at the end of the workout Schmeling was not breathing heavily. Because he is in such good shape Max will refrain from doing any work tomorrow. He will play a game of golf in the afternoon and will wait to hear what action on the application for licenses for boxing taken by the boxing commission himself and Joe Jacobs, his manager.

Max just played around the house this morning. His trainer and Horst Walther and myself played a little home-made golf with him on the lawn.

The SPORTLIGHT

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)
Eyes on Sandwich.

Every section and cross section of the United States will have its eyes clamped or glued on Sandwich tomorrow, despite the fact that Sandwich happens to be about 6,000 miles from Portland, where Doc Willing and Don Moie reign.

The Walker cup matches will then be under way and there is much more interest in what they may show than anyone can recall from other years. The presence of Bobby Jones and Jimmy Johnston, the two United States champions, the first foreign tests of Don Moie and George Voigt, the preliminary showing of British stars in the gold vase and practice rounds have all been features calculated to help build up the show.

In this two days' test, which includes late Friday afternoon, the United States has the stronger side and the British have the advantage of home terrain with a stronger team than usual, and this should mean a close finish, whoever wins.

Thursday and Friday will also bring about the semi-final and the final rounds for the British women's title, where the strongest American invasion ever launched by the only slightly weaker sex is making a determined effort to win the cup for the first time.

Surrounding Schmeling.
The New York boxing commission offered Max Schmeling a license to meet Jack Sharkey under the condition he would defend his title in case he beats Sharkey at Madison Square Garden at his next appearance.

There is no particular reason why Schmeling should not be allowed to accept the first bid made in case he wins the championship, no matter from what promoter such a bid might come. Most fighters are well overpaid for what they offer in the ring. But that has nothing to do with the fact that even a fighter is entitled to wait for the best proposition he can get.

If Schmeling wins and wants to fight in his home town, Berlin, he should be allowed to do so.

Cubs and Giants.
The runaway show which the Cubs put on last summer will no longer decorate the campaign of 1930. When the Giants moved against Chicago and cleaned up three out of four, McGraw served notice on Joe McCarthy that there would be a battle all the way this time. And your Uncle Wilbert Robinson has served notice on both that his Dodgers will have something to say all along the line of march.

Baseball has come back to its own with a rush and crash. The Yankees, around the fringe of the first division, out in no man's land, have already drawn 500,000 clients to their stadium and May is just half over. Nothing like this ever happened in baseball before.

The revival of general public interest in the old game has been astonishing. At this rate the Yankees will play to more than 2,000,000 fans on their own grounds, and they are not likely to be any worse off in the club standings later on. Babe Ruth has never before had as many home run rivals. At least ten sluggers are giving the Big Bam of Bloomingville all the argument he can carry.

Bill Tilden is out to win the tennis championships of all the nations surrounding France. Then he will declare a blockade and a food embargo until Cochet surrenders.

Walter Johnson's Senators are doing pretty well as it is. They could do a lot better with the Walter Johnson of 1912—or even 1920.

A Future Great.
Dear Sir:
Recently you carried some arguments on the merits of the greatest all-around athletes of the day. May I sneak cautiously in the back door with the name of a boy that may rank as one of the greatest of tomorrow? At Culver Military Academy is a youngster named Russell Oliver who's about as close to a "natural" as they come.

His introduction to Culver came in a summer school where he rowed on the championship crew, something he'd never tackled before. Then at the request of some friends he entered the boxing championships and, to his amazement, won the tournament.

Last fall at Culver he became the regular fullback and did the kicking, punting, passing and headed the blocking brigade for his mates. When he reported for basketball he told the coach he was a forward. "Fine," said the boss, "the young man plays one forward and the captain of the team the other."

"Well," said Oliver simply, "I'm still a forward."

In the first game he got in for a while as a running guard and was the outstanding man on the floor by a margin as wide as that bit of water between "Frisco and the Philippines. Thereafter he was a forward, and in Culver's last game shot eight of his team's ten baskets for a narrow winning margin. A Big Ten official who refereed an earlier game stated Oliver was the equal of any basketball player he had seen in college ranks, and this blower of the whistle had been glimpsing "Stretch" Murphy, McCracken and the rest of the big time boys.

The baseball season is at hand and in Culver's first four games Oliver has cracked out nine hits for a total of 16 bases, and, incidentally, he pitched one of the contests, Culver winning, 5 to 1, with Oliver striking out eight men and issuing no base on balls. On his first round of golf for the year he turned in a 76, and aside from the fact they want him to compete with the swimming team, he's destined to spend the spring in a complete state of athletic decline.

As further proof as to how the dope goes in any attempt at accurate summing up, one only has to turn to the Cub-Giant series. There was much comment on the pitching strength of the Cubs. Whereupon, in the four games the Giants scored over 40 runs, better than ten to a game, and finished the series with a team batting average of .464.

The Winning "S."
Does a fighter have to start his name with an "S" to figure in the polite society of slug?

It begins to look that way. Last year at Miami it was Sharkey and Stribling. This year it was Sharkey and Scott. Now it will be Sharkey and Schmeling. In the old days the first name had to start with a "J"—i. e., John Sullivan, Jim Corbett, Jim Jeffries, Jack Johnson, Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey, James Joseph Tunney. Some promoter now should get busy and dig up either a "J" or an "S" for an alphabetical hunch.

In a recent test with the new golf ball Joe Turnesa turned in a 70 through the wind-whipped course. This would indicate the new ball is something more than a football stuffed with feathers, as so many seem to think. The fact that it will help the average golfer more than the star is another angle no one can cram down the popular throat, provided angles can be crammed anywhere.

Hadden Hall Best At Lexington Sale
LEXINGTON, Ky., May 13.—(P)—Hadden Hall, chestnut three-gaited gelding from the consignment of Robert T. Moreland, Lexington, topped the first day's offering of saddle horses at the Kentucky Sale Company's auction here yesterday.

Hadden Hall was purchased by Colonel William M. Robinson, Paoli, Pa., for $11,000, and will join his other tanbark stars, the Target, Mountain Laurel and Springtime, during the coming show season. Several of the principal horse exhibitors of the nation bid for Hadden Hall.

The 100 head of horses offered yesterday sold for an average of $325 a head, all other prices being much lower.

Arlington Sets $1,500 As Purse Minimum
CHICAGO, May 13.—(P)—The board of directors of the Arlington Park Jockey Club has set $1,500 as the minimum purse for its meeting at Arlington Park June 30-August 2.

Otto H. Lehmann, president of the club, also announced today that on days of steeply rising there will be eight races instead of seven.

How Ridiculous!
Al Friedman, Boston's up-and-coming heavyweight, once knocked himself by missing a swing at Jim Maloney and falling through the ropes for the count.

Hiram Wins Again.
HIRAM, Ga., May 13.—Hiram High school defeated Douglasville, 4 to 1, Monday afternoon for their eighth straight victory of the season.

Enterprise Defeats Resolute in Cup Test
NEW YORK, May 13.—(P)—The Resolute, defender of the America's cup against Sir Thomas Lipton's last challenge, has been soundly beaten in the first test to see what boat will represent the United States in the international races against Sir Thomas' newest Shamrock in September.

The Enterprise, one of the four new racers built to repel the Irish sportsman's latest challenge, beat the Resolute by 10 minutes, 30 seconds in a test race over a 22-mile windward and leeward course on Long Island sound yesterday.

Schmeling Ordered To Sign Two Extra-Binding Contracts.

By Frank Getty.
United News Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, May 13.—(U.N.)—The stranglehold which the Madison Square Garden Corporation has upon the boxing world never was more clearly demonstrated than today, when several astonishing new developments in the case of Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, took place.

Not even in the days when the late Tex Rickard ruled the fistic racket with an iron hand was the corporation he founded so thoroughly dominant in the field.

Fighters and managers naturally are willing to play ball with Madison Square Garden, which pays the prices and calls the shots, but now the New York state athletic commission, which once boasted of its independence and power, has bowed to Garden rules.

At a meeting of the commission today, attended by Frank Bruen, vice president of Madison Square Garden in charge of boxing, but with Schmeling and Joe Jacobs, his American manager, absent, the following announcement was made:

Schmeling must agree to sign a contract to the effect that if he defeats Jack Sharkey on June 12 and is recognized as heavyweight champion, he will make his first defense of that title in this city under the auspices of Madison Square Garden.

Unless Schmeling agrees to such an agreement, he will not be granted a license to meet Sharkey and will have no opportunity to win the world's championship.

The New York state athletic commission thus has acted to tie up Schmeling exclusively for Madison Square Garden. Why it has done so might make an interesting story.

The situation is further complicated by the fact that the German has broken with his former manager, Arthur Bulow, who, however, receives 20 per cent of Schmeling's earnings until their contract expires on October 15. Under the existing law, Bulow also would be entitled to share in the receipts of any matches made by Max prior to the termination of the contract.

Schmeling did not wish to sign any contracts for future bouts until his contract with Bulow expired, but the commission today insisted that he must do so, and with Madison Square Garden.

Max thereupon replied that if the Garden would post a bond to guarantee him against possible claims on Bulow's part, he would sign at his training quarters at Endicott tomorrow.

Madison Square Garden agreed to post such a bond today. Frank Bruen explaining to the United Nations that the Garden's lawyers had figured out a way to tie up Schmeling and still avoid having to pay Bulow his share.

Jack Sharkey could not but be growing daily to resemble the Gordian Knot of Alexander's day by knocking out Schmeling and ending the entire discussion.

CHICKS TAKE DOUBLE BILL

before the game. "I've got a crowd of kids," he said. "There are just a few of us veterans. Vick got back today from Mississippi where he has been because his wife was ill. I'm hurt. William is hurt. Gerber is out. We are all getting better but things look mighty bad."

This sounded very bad indeed but the same club went out and kicked the Crackers soundly in two games. Mr. Prothro had best hurt some more of his men.

The Crackers lost Bill Barrett, catcher. He sustained a split and dislocated finger in the second game and was suspended to allow Catcher Fred Polvoght, purchased from Bloomington, to appear with the team today.

WALKER TEAM SCORES BETTER ON EVE OF PLAY

Mackenzie Shoots 74 To Beat Bobby by Two Strokes.

SANDWICH, England, May 13.—(P)—The members of the American Walker cup team today continued to improve their game over the treacherous St. George's course. Interest was increased by the arrival of the massive Walker cup itself, Douglas Fairbanks, who considers himself Bobby Jones' mascot, and Jack MacIntyre, Jones' Scotch caddy.

Roland Mackenzie's play has shown more improvement than that of any of the Americans. He played 18 holes this morning with a score of 74, two less than the number Jones needed to negotiate the same distance.

Jones and Mackenzie won a hand-fought four-ball match from George Von Elm and George Voigt.

This afternoon, Jones and Dr. O. F. Willing played a four-ball match against Francis Outmet and Harrison R. Johnston. Jones and Willing won 3 and 2.

There was much interest today in a match between Roger Wethered and Cyril Tolley against J. A. Stong and Sir Ernest Holderness. Stong and Holderness won 2 and 1. It was the first appearance in several months of Tolley, the British amateur champion, on an English golf course.

Bobby, Dr. Willing Team in Foursomes.
SANDWICH, England, May 13.—(P)—Pairings of the American Walker cup team for the foursomes against the British team Thursday evening announced tonight. George Von Elm and George Voigt will be partners; Donald Moie and Roland Mackenzie will be paired; Robert T. Jones, Jr., and Dr. O. F. Willing will play together, and Harrison R. Johnston will play with Francis Outmet.

Announcement of the British pairings was not expected until tomorrow but it was regarded as likely that William Campbell and J. A. Stong would pair with the other probable partnerships including Sir Ernest Holderness and J. A. Stong, Robert Harris and P. A. Torrance, Roger Wethered and Cyril J. H. Tolley.

Valdosta Defeats Tallahassee, 7 to 5
VALDOSTA, Ga., May 13.—(P)—A close and spirited game this afternoon Valdosta defeated Tallahassee by a score of 7 to 5, a large crowd of fans enjoying the second game of the league season played on the home town lot.

This is the third game of the Georgia-Florida amateur league season. Valdosta playing and losing a game at Perry, Fla., and winning again from Perry in the second contest here last week.

SHERIDAN WINS CITY DUCKPIN CHAMPIONSHIP

Winner Gets 1134, Perryman Is Second; Tenpin Meet Tonight.

After a bad start Monday night, Bill Sheridan rallied Tuesday night on the Atlantic Bowling Alleys and rolled a score of 590 to win the first city duckpin tournament with a score of 1134 for the 10 games. Sheridan nosed out Fuzzy Perryman, the pace setter Monday night, by one pin. Third place was won by G. N. McKay with 116 pins.

Sheridan's high game Tuesday night was below that of J. S. Sutton, who was high individual scorer, but every game was above par and his consistency enabled him to win out. He was in 11th place with 544 pins Monday night, 28 pins behind Perryman. He was high in the five game series with the two nights with 590. Perryman rolled the high single game Monday night with a score of 156.

Sheridan will receive a diamond trophy for winning the city championship and the runner-up will receive a prize, from John Black, owner of the alleys. Other leaders for the 10-game series were: Stewart Murray, 1117; H. J. Cavan, 1111; Morgan Blake, 1102; John Bell, 1103; A. L. Pritchard, 1093; M. Hohenstein, 1086; W. C. Moore, 1075; and Dewey Bowen, 1076. Atlanta's tenpin bowlers will have their party tonight in the first of a 10-game series to decide the city's champion. Five games will be rolled tonight and the remaining five will be rolled Thursday night.

Every ten-pin bowler in the city is eligible to participate in the tournament and there will be no entrance fee.

Dunn Will Fight Cowboy Kid Here

Dynamite Roy Dunn and Cowboy Kid, two popular colored welterweights, have been matched for 10 rounds in the main attraction at 8:30 o'clock Friday night at 81 theater, 81 Beacuter street, of an all-colored boxing card.

Dunn has just returned from a trip to Florida where he won a couple of bouts, including a 10-round go with Battling E. G. in Jacksonville. Cowboy Kid is recognized as one of the fastest colored fighters in the city and is the type of fighter that Atlanta's fight fans like to see in action.

Billy Hooper, colored matchmaker, is negotiating with several boxers for the semi-main event, Tom Bailey, manager of 81 theater, is completing plans for 32 rounds of fast fighting. Tickets will be placed on sale at the box office.

Norton's Strikeout String Reaches 109

Marvin Norton, Fulton High southpaw, struck out 20 G. M. A. batters Tuesday afternoon in the Fulton-Cadet game at College Park. These strikeouts ran Norton's total for the year to 109 in 72 innings and his earned runs have been less than two per game. Two of the four runs scored off his delivery Tuesday were results of misjudged fly balls.

Norton began the season as a first baseman but when Wray, Coach Hope's right-hander, was knocked out of the box, Norton relieved him. Since that time Wray has been ruled ineligible by the Fulton faculty and Norton has pitched the remainder of the games. He is a junior at Fulton High.

TECH, GEORGIA PREP FOR TILTS

Rain Hampers Drills, Both Here and in Athens.

By Herb Clark.

Hampers slightly by rain Tuesday afternoon, Tech and Georgia are preparing for the annual tilt between the two universities. The game is scheduled for Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the University of Georgia stadium in Athens.

These same Yellow Jackets and Bulldogs, you know, are the principals in the double-barreled "battle of the century," to be staged on Tech's Rose Bowl diamond Friday and Saturday afternoon.

The frays will be Tech-Georgia frays of time-without-end tradition. Last week-end the two clubs proved that they were well matched. That they were built to produce a real game. That they could—and would—produce that show at any and every possible time.

Last week-end the Bulldogs proved just a hair better than the Jackets. Proved it on two separate and distinct occasions, so that there would be no lingering doubts on the matter. They slugged the Jackets to death in the Friday encounter and then Saturday afternoon they allowed the Jackets to take and hold a lead until the ninth inning, when they came back to score two small runs, which, however, loomed just large enough on the scoring tables to throw the balance of power to the Athenians.

And for the 'seventh time of the year—numbers are a bit painful for the Engineers—Georgia has trounced the old rival, Tech. It may be that the lads from the Flats can rise from the ashes like a phoenix to live anew. "To live," of course, means to win now and again, where the Jackets are concerned. Whether or not victory is for them, the Jackets will be heading every effort to know just why victory should not be their lot. This thing of losing to the Bulldogs has become too much of a habit, say the Engineers.

ST. LOUIS BEAT TYPISTS, 9 TO 4; MARIST WINS

Cadets Trip Russell, 2-1; Norton Whiffs 20 G. M. A. Batters.

Marist and Tech High won their games Tuesday afternoon in the first of the semi-final games of the City Prep League. Fulton and G. M. A. called their game at the end of the ninth inning with the score tied at 4-4. The first two innings were played in a slow rain.

Tech High retained its league leadership with a 9 to 4 victory over Commercial High at Piedmont Park. Ed Copeland, Smithy freshman, pitched a good game despite nine hits secured by Commercial.

Those hits were well scattered except in the sixth inning, when three runs were pushed across the plate. An error, a double and three successive singles paved the way for Commercial's three runs.

Tech High scattered its scoring in the first, second, fourth, fifth and sixth innings. Morris and Cape were the hitting stars for the Smithies.

Copeland struck out 13 of the Commercial batters and contributed a single to his team's scoring in the fourth inning.

PASSION FLOWER

By Kathleen Norris

NINTH INSTALLMENT.

"You could make a lovely little suite of it," observed Mrs. Harney, with weary enthusiasm. "There'd never be a day you wouldn't have sunshine floodin' the place. I have a spread I could let you have for that bed, and when your own things were round, you'd be fixed real well."

"Let's emerge quietly into God's great out-of-doors," Dan murmured in her ear.

"Dan, this place really could be fixed up!"

"With two sticks of dynamite, and a coroner," Dan agreed.

"Her delicious, spurring laughter repaid him."

"Ask the rent," she whispered.

"It appeared that she could not let it go for less than $14. The last lady had paid $12. Mrs. Harney would tell them frankly, but she had had to raise, all over the house."

Cassy gave a violent shudder, when she heard the sum mentioned. It was the shudder of the bargain-hunter, agonized with fear lest she betray her find.

"And I have to make it in advance, and I'll tell you why, dear," explained the landlady.

In the full flood of it, Cassy observed that she must speak alone to Mr. Wallace.

"You're crazy!" Dan said stupefied.

"I tell you, with all this sunshine—think of the days we've seen! And that nice woman, for she is nice, and only $14 a month! Danny, I'm for it."

"I think you're crazy," he said again.

But in the end he gave way, and Cassy entered into the negotiations with her first landlady.

"Well, how soon would you want to come in, dear?"

"Oh, tonight."

"Well, I could fix you up for tonight," Mrs. Harney said, brightening.

"Now, you go back to the hotel and get our bags," Cassy directed Dan, when that was all settled, and Mrs. Harney had returned to her own regions downstairs. "And I'll be down. And then we'll go out and get pepper and salt and everything."

"You are the best sport God ever made," he stated simply. "I'll give you a nice home than this," he promised huskily.

"But isn't this fun?" she coaxed, exultant.

The reluctant smile she loved twitched at his fine, wide mouth.

"Well, we may get away with it, at that."

Cassy, weary as she was, was anxious to cook her first dinner in the new quarters, but Dan demurred, and in the end they went back to dine at the Dairy Kitchen. Afterward they raided the five-and-ten-cent store, the Piggly-Wiggly and Jenny Wren's, the nineteen-and-ninety-cent emporium, and "The La Elite Bake Shoppe." Then Dan capitulated utterly to the charm of an egg poacher at 15 cents.

"Gee, I love poached eggs."

"You shall have them."

"Well, you can do it without these things—you can do them right in hot water. I've seen my mother. But that certainly is cute." Dan mused wistfully, lingering beside the poacher still.

"Oh, well, let's have it then!"

"I don't know. It's sort of an extravagance!"

"We'll take it," Cassy said, decidedly to the salesman. Dan contentedly carried it as they went back to the bright, thrilling street.

Their arms aching, their hands stretched, and their fingers cut by thin, sharp stripes, they returned to the Cannon House at 9 o'clock and hilariously mounted to their own rooms, through the odorous, warm rooms, and between the lacy-hung doorways and the curious eyes. Every door and window was wide open; the spring evening was unusually warm, and the thin, forlorn old house gushed feeble lights like a house of cardboard with a candle inside it.

The bright, new little boxes and boxes were all ranged tidily by Cassy on the shelves; the blue bowls added a decorative note to the dingy main room. Eggs and cream bottle went on the window sill, a precedent observed by Cassy in other apartments. Afterward they leaned together on one of their wide, high window sills and looked down at the street, and listened to the symphony of noises in the old house below them.

"Doesn't it seem much longer than last night that we left home?" asked presently. They speculated about what the abandoned household was experiencing; whether Cassy's father would give the news to the press.

"I don't want his money."

"Neither do I, Dan," she meditated, and then asked, "How much have we?"

"We have eleven dollars and twenty cents," he said, after investigation. "Oh, that's oceans!" Cassy assured him. "You see, we've done two-thirds of what we had to do this morning!" she summarized the situation optimistically. "We're married, we've found a house, and moved in. We said twenty-five dollars rent, and we've done much better than that. We have food for tomorrow, and our rent's paid, and we have eleven dollars. Dan, I call that grand!"

"I can't get over the convenience of electric light!" she said, somewhat later, and Dan, finding no other response handy, merely tightened his arm about her shoulders.

"Mind you, I thought they might be blind and zroom," Mrs. Harney, comfortably nursing the baby in a lair far downstairs, observed to her husband at about this time. "She had such a little-girl look on her, peepin' out from under her arm, and she was so timid, the suit."

But it was just up on the landing, to see Miss Daley's cough better, and you'd know, to hear the way the two of them talking, that they'd been married some time. She got the brains of the outfit, and she's the one that's in love, if you'd ask me."

It was some five days later that young Mrs. Wallace, essaying a vegetable puree for a soup, burned her hand, spilled her puree and retired to the open window sill to nurse her injuries with what endurance she might.

Her whole right hand and the corner of her apron enveloped the injured fingers; she writhed, and whined aloud in pain.

Suddenly she was weeping bitterly, with her head down on the window sill.

After a while she stopped, and wiped her eyes on her apron, and looked out dreamily into the silence of the hot street. It was half-past 11 o'clock, the children were all in school, and the humble marketing of the neighborhood was long done. Spring had found out Showell street, with the rest of the world; the air was soft and balmy, the sky very blue, and there were lilacs and bridal-wreath tumbling in mad luxuriance in all the shabby gardens.

Cassy's tears dried on her cheeks. She remained motionless, thinking, until the whistles drowned them. Then she roused herself and went contentedly back to her work.

That night she told Dan about it.

"Oh, I had the most luscious puree—it was marvelous! And the handle of that—well, that damn blue saucepan got red hot, over the other burner, and when I grabbed it—well, look!"

"Oh, my Lord!" Dan whispered, shutting his eyes at the sight of the bandaged fingers.

"My darling, I can't bear to have you burn yourself!"

"Well, it isn't much of a burn, but I got so mad. And I went over to the window there," confessed Cassy, and howled.

"Cassy, you didn't cry?"

"Cry? I howled. I howled, to use a favorite expression of mine. You should have heard me!"

"Don't tell me!" he whispered, shutting his eyes again. "Did it hurt so much?"

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR No. 51

The ape-man turned back along the trail, deciding to return and search the Arab village once more. Scarcely had he taken to the trees than a tall, black warrior, moving at a dogged trot, passed toward the east. It was Mugambi searching for his mistress. Pausing he examined the body of the dead lion. An expression of wonderment crossed his features. Tarzan had removed his arrows, but to Mugambi the proof of death was as strong as though they still stuck in the carcass.

The black looked furtively about him. The lion's body was still warm and from this fact he reasoned that the killer was close at hand, yet no sign of living man appeared. Mugambi shook his head and continued along the trail, but with redoubled caution. All day he traveled, stopping occasionally to call aloud the single word, "Lady," in the hope that at least she might hear and respond; but in the end his loyal devotion brought him to disaster.

From the northeast for several months, Abdul Mourak, in command of a detachment of Abyssinian soldiers, had been vainly searching for the Arab raider, Achmet Zek, who, six months previously, had affronted the majesty of Abyssinia's emperor by a slave raid within that monarch's boundaries. And now it happened that Abdul Mourak had halted for a noonday rest upon the very day and along the same trail that both Werper and Mugambi were following toward the east.

It was shortly after the soldiers had dismounted that the Belgian, unaware of their presence, rode his tired mount almost into their midst before he discovered them. Instantly he was surrounded, and a volley of questions hurled at him as he was pulled from his horse and led into the presence of the commander. Falling back upon his European nationality, Werper assured Abdul Mourak that he was a Frenchman, hunting in Africa, his safari killed by bandits or scattered.
